One of the hardest things I've learned during this entire episode is how dependent I am on society for basic needs. I grow some food, know a bit about wild edibles, have handyman skills, keep my material wants minimal and do not work for a boss. And yet, most of my food comes from a store, and water and power are paid for each month. I've never felt so vulnerable about those basic facts. Such dependencies are the ways we are being held hostage by the forces in control of those basic needs. Most of us have to go shopping. That simple fact expresses our connection to each other through economy.

In ancient Greece, that place of commerce was the Agora. But more than being an "indispensable" soulless big-box store to get chattel or food, the Agora was also an integral center of culture and political life... a place where one could encounter or engage in philosophical discourse. If that fact alone does not hint at how far we may have fallen in modernity, consider that "agora" most likely relates to "egeiro," meaning to raise up, a word amply represented in the New Testament. As pertaining the Agora, perhaps that's merely a topological reference, but I'd like to think the Agora was a place where one might occasionally encounter that which was highest and best in man.

It should not be surprising that in these dark times, a bit of the spirit of the Agora wants to reemerge as a movement, "Agorism." This modern variant has a strong Libertarian streak; I'm still learning about it, but to the degree it means we interact directly with each other in all manner of physical, artistic, intellectual and spiritual exchanges, apart from the domineering stupidity of tyrannical governments and corporations, I'm all for it. It seems to me we all need to start thinking in such directions to exercise the duty of civil disobedience... and survival.

Thank you David, for these outbreaks of solidarity and hope, of the spirit of Ágora. This agorism should also be implanted to those who have caused this terrible crisis, but unfortunately only those of us who are suffering from this great crisis of excessive ambitions can be solidaries in the face of the virus of greed that reigns over the planet. The agorism of the elites will come disguised as millionaire credits in order to seize absolute power, global governance. We are facing the largest redistribution of world wealth in world history, based on a systematic process of impoverishment of humanity. It is an act of economic warfare that will cause loss of freedom, hunger, misery, suffering, disease and death.

The "killer virus" fear campaign, along with timely "warnings" from Dr. Tedros about the need to implement a global pandemic, indelibly served the interests of institutional speculators and Wall Street hedge funds to provoke a financial crisis that would trigger more economic inequalities. The WHO officially declared a global pandemic at a time when there were over 5,000 deaths worldwide. Wall Street, the World Economic Forum, multi-million dollar foundations led the way for this diabolical project disguised corporate media as a humanitarian need.

The real economy was the target of the totalitarian blockade, the financial institutions of Global Money being its creditors, unleashing a process of global indebtedness. Unprecedented in world history, a bonanza of billions of trillions of dollar-denominated debt is simultaneously affecting the national economies of 193 countries. Under the so-called "Great Reset" of the "New Normal" presented by the World Economic Forum (WEF), billionaire creditors will take over bankrupt entities, in addition to acquiring ownership and / or control of "public wealth", including the social and economic assets of the State, through a massive debt project under the supervision of the IMF and the World Bank.

Thank you Guillermo for your clear-eyed portrait of the devastation no bombs could've created. This picture should remove any doubts anyone may still be harboring about the fact that we are under attack. Indebted people are easily controlled; the more desperately-indebted people that can be created, the more "easy pickings" for the greedy predator class as they swoop-in under the guise of humanitarianism. I've never been one to measure my self-worth by the standard of ownership, but clearly we cannot succumb the WEF's promised utopia in which "we own nothing and will be happy." Ownership means we hold the responsibility and control for some things and events in our lives. It is critical that we don't lose more ground to this rapacious billionaire class that is so bereft of real wealth.

Thanks for the book links, Darzoum - lucky you being able to post twice on the same topic. My attempts to do the same were split up when I posted on the recent topic of fats. Some VERY good news: both of your book recommendations are available on a new UK website: Hive.co.uk. which is now an alternative to further adding to Jeff Bezos' £185 billion from his (tax exempt ?) Amazon sales. Hive works in a similar way to Amazon but local bookshops of your choice who are members of the co-operative get a share of the profits. There is also a post free delivery option without the devious tricks used by Amazon to get customers to join their money generator "Prime". It was a joy to find on Hive other plandemic titles which have been delisted by Amazon. As a prolific book collector, this discovery has made my day and I look forward to reading about Agorism. Loving your broad church of intellectual enquiry and theme linking when it comes to studying the threads of this latest assault on human rights and freedom by an evil cabal. There is no rule which grants freedom without a struggle. It has to be fought for and there may be casualties. You have also inspired me with your idea to be more self sufficient and it will be a New Year resolution to grow more of my own vegetables in 2021.

hi Darzoum~ with all due respect to your expertise in etymological roots of an ancient language the concept of "agora" has always signified a "market place" defined as a place where people meet and talk on a common level~ this would be how the semiologists see the signification of this term~ apparently, it could also mean "speaking in a public manner" or simply "the market place"~ these are the common translations of this word which was adopted to describe FEAR in the sense of "open space" in the psychological term "agoraphobia"~ in none of these examples is the term linked to what the Anglicans call "supererogation" as you are suggesting ~ I say all this without looking at your assumptions through your links~ but merely from the standpoint of a lifelong interest in the subject of philology

Hi Cabochon, thanks for the example to avoid fattening Jeff Bezo's coffers beyond their already obscene levels... and the tip to seek alternatives; I have to be careful to not seem to be endorsing Amazon... just in the habit of using the book listings as a reference. Hi Stanley, I'm not an expert in ancient etymologies, just in the habit of digging that deep when I look things up. I have a couple of sources that suggest "agora" relates to "egeiro," which ties into the idea of rising. But on your objection, I also checked Webster, who says it could go to a hypothetical Indo-European root *ger-... from which comes "gregarious" and would seem to support what you're saying. ἀγορά agora {ag-or-ah'} from ageiro (to gather, probably akin to 1453); ἐγείρω 'egeiro' meaning 'to raise' Strong's 1453

Darzoum... o not be discouraged. None of us can do everything. However, we can educate ourselves, gain skills and develop resources and networks. Esp. food networks. You don't have to do it all, but if each independent person is doing something, you can support each other and keep money in the community. Esp. develop food networks.

I am not a livestock person, except for poultry. My husband wants goats. I am not into goats, but made it clear it is his project. I prefer to hunt for my meat and believe mother nature is much better at herd management than I will ever be. We get a few steaks as a holiday treat from a neighbor who is a rancher. In exchange for the use of our land, a friend keeps us supplied with honey. I enjoy gardening and do it on a massive scale. I also enjoy gleanng and foraging the heirloom varieties. We often have fruit and vegetables to share.. and wild foods that are much in demand... even bartering them for medical care.

Before covid hit, I had the foresight to stock up on unwanted work clothing and boots that we can inevitably use as ours wear out. We are old enough to have acquired tools and a library. Many older tools are manual. I also have fabric remnants, patterns and yarn. Kitchen equipment. I reuse and repurpose what many people discard. I also pass things on, esp. when I find brand new free clothing not in our sizes. People are so wasteful.

Study the native peoples of the region where you live. Learn what they ate and how they gathered, stored and prepared these foods. If you cannot go entirely off grid, find ways to reduce your need for electricity. Heat. A water filtration device available and a plan to obtain water. Consider security. This may also be a good time to think about concealing some stuff and creating more than one cache.If you can, find a way to get at least a small parcel of land under your feet... the kind that offers privacy. Consider what you can do for a living with steady demand that offers autonomy.

Great post, Darzoum with some great wisdom from the ancients. Another key Greek word in the New Testament that relates to this concept is koinonia, "community," (e.g. see Act 2:42-47), referring to a community united in values and beliefs, and committed to dignity and wellbeing of all the members. In Hebrew (Old Testament) the comparable term is Qahal. The ideal is to create a unity in our diversity, founded on respect for the dignity of each person, with empathy and compassion as core values, and of course the primacy of benevolent love (another good Greek word: Agape). Contrast these ideals to the selfish narcissism that "infects" contemporary culture and is abetted by the greed of the "Bigs"-- Pharma, Agriculture, Tech, "Bill" and friends, and their corrupt political and media servants. At our core, most humans desire the ideals of Koinania and sharing Agape, which bring meaning and happiness. If the majority of citizens will eventually awaken to the abuse of selfish power and greed being foisted upon us, perhaps we can ignite a movement to reaffirm human dignity over profits and take down the powerful for the humble will eventually be "raised up" (eigero) while the arrogant cast down.

Hi, David. As per the end of your second paragraph. This perpetual covid insanity is definitely bringing out "the worst" in man/woman. A good percentage of humanity today, is living in constant fear and intense fear can transform into paranoia and the sheer stress and anxiety of being socially isolated has already sent many down the path to mental/emotional illness. All of the "measures" being FORCED upon us, have absolutely nothing to do with our "Health and Safety". They are meant to repress us, suppress us, oppress us; or perhaps, just to "press" us into submission. Control is the name of the game. From the moment I heard "The New Normal" uttered; I knew exactly what was going on.

Those of us who do constant research knows that the agendas being rolled out at this time have been in the plans for decades. The oligarchs are using their time tested Hegelian Dialectic - Crisis - Reaction - Solution! Ask Billy Boy what the "Final Solution" is! Any person who is taking care of their health...good food, exercise and rest; has absolutely nothing to fear from this "pandemic" fraud! If people would just open their eyes and look around them, they would see that their families, friends and acquaintances are NOT getting sick (no sicker than they already are)! I've heard people say: "I know a friend of a friend that had covid". I prefer to look at the evidence - not hearsay.

There is a problem with assuming an English gloss covers the semantic range of a Greek verb or substantive. Classical, Koine, NT Greek students know that it all depends on "context"! Case in point: BDAG lists at least 13 glosses to cover the semantic range of εγειρω in the NT and other early Christian literature. Mukaoka in his Greek-English Lexicon of the Septuagint lists 6 different ideas (to awaken from sleep, to bring into existence, and so on). And that is not going to Liddell and Scott's classical lexicon. The point being that it is a difficult linguistic task to find such things as equivalents. However, it is interesting to ponder some of these connections.

Posted On 12/17/2020

Furthermore, I have a hard time seeing a cognate for εγχειρω being αγορα. It would take some research to see the semantic and lexical relationship. Interesting.

Yes, it's good to be as self-sufficient as possible, but as the saying goes, "no man (or woman) is an island." We need each other for both material and emotional support. We all have unique talents to share with one another. That's what society should be about. We are losing this aspect of humanity with these lockdowns. The masks, also, cause people to be fearful of each other and interaction. What's even worse is that some are starting to grow accustomed to such a life. It's very tragic and discouraging, but we do still have the power to resist and we have to.

Almond, thanks for the guidance from your real-life experience. I don't discourage easily. Some of us are in circumstances that don't support all that you do, such as those living in urban or suburban areas; and among those may be many without the option to move away. But the principle of self-reliance applies wherever one is, and I'm all for taking whatever possible steps are available in that direction.

Dr. Steven, thank you for the lesson on koinonia (and agape)... these are the ideas (and ideals) I was trying to capture with the image of the Agora. Even if such things were only living symbols within our psyches, without historical precedent, we would still need such references to contrast with the insanity happening now, and to shine a truth-light upon the corrupt individuals foisted before the public as cultural ideals.

CeceliaAnn, thanks for the encouragement.

Randy, I know you will never accept the "new normal" as normal... I'm right there with you.

SevagO, it sounds like you are steeped in such studies. It is possible for two words to denote different concepts and still be "cousins," and from there—just like biological cousins—grow further apart over time. For those who would prefer it, remove any possible link between "agora" and "egeiro" and the overarching point of my post still stands.

blessthebeasts, yes, agreed; I think the idea of the Agora is consistent with what you are saying.

Other than the hypocritical, immoral, unempathetic Technocrats, who prosper from our collective misery, the vast majority of human beings will not desire or ultimately submit to the "Great Reset" vision of the future. They continue to have the upper hand with their media-abetted fear narrative but ultimately humanity will not accept this dystopian vision of a modern Feudal system, with the "LORDS" presiding over and profiting from their technological social control and the rest of us "Serfs" willingly and obediently accepting a life without personal freedoms. Presently, most people are unaware of the Great Reset and think, naively, that the new vaccines herald the forthcoming return to "normalcy." At some point, people will be faced with the choice to submit or resist.

Despite Big Tech censorship and our pathetic "Media," millions of people are accessing alternative information like we share on this website and in these forums. Truth and goodness will ultimately triumph over evil, but we must be prepared to fight. In addition to the risk factors noted in this article, let's also consider the fact that so many Americans are on prescription drugs. Listen closely to the "side effects" statements in a typical Big Pharma drug add and almost every one mentions "increased risk of infection" as a side effect. Could not the fact that so many Americans are on multiple (often unneeded) Big Pharma prescription drugs be another factor for the so-called "surges" of Covid-19 infections in America (in addition to the PCR testing issue)? Just a thought.

Yes, Dr. Steve, we are in a design towards the iron concentration of power and geo-economic dictates were conceptualized for the first time, under the deceptive cover of "sustainable development", which follow a tradition strengthened in the last decade. A simple but flawed mathematical prediction from US Covid-19 experts, caused the world to panic and order lockdowns. The article accused Dr. Fauci of having mixed up different death rates when he presented his evidence to Congress on March 11.

Representative events of the controlled demolition of large sectors of the global economy allowed corporate capitalism, and the great globalist elite, to obtain incalculable profits from the destruction of collapsed businesses. All this aimed at behavioral approaches that incorporate a line of thought that moves from the idea of an autonomous individual, who makes free rational decisions, to a decision maker whose behavior is automatic and influenced by a devastating techno-fascism of ideas. and principles.

We are in the development of a Strategic Intelligence Platform disguised as sustainable development but that is only supported by a deep state of interests and greed of BigPharma, BigOil, Big Chemical, Big Tech are titans of a Deep State cartel The Great Reset, for all its universalist ambitions, is a self-serving model model, promoted by unbridled ambition and greed, benefiting less than 1% of the globalist elite who claim to run the world at their whims to satisfy their greed and ambitions, The Great Reset would target the losers, in terms of nations, adding all those who benefit to the corporations of the Pharmaceutical Mafia and the production and processing of energy, agriculture, artificial intelligence, etc., and ultimately BigMoney , techno-fascism in its maximum essence.

Dr. Steven... You prob already know that the average elder is on at least a dozen prescription drugs over the course of a year. This indicates already fragile health. Considering the number of drugs already pulled from the market or that were successfully litigated resulting in $settlements$, I am not going to anticipate that pharmaceutical companies have suddenly turned altruistic. Most deaths have been in the elderly with co-morbid conditions and those in assisted living facilities. Statistics for the general population do not appear so grim if these numbers are excluded. Besides, no one knows what the real numbers are because there has never been an honest accounting of testing, mortality, etc.

I was listening to coast-to-coast radio with Dr. Paul Thomas. I hope this program was recorded and will soon become available in the archives for listening. I think it will be quite a while before we see "truth and goodness" prevail, but ultimately, it will. Numbers of people unwilling to be vaccinated are growing. If the vaccine becomes mandatory, I would expect to see growing pockets of resistance, both in cities and rural areas. What we observe of controlled Marxist societies are a thriving black market, a govt that pretends to pay people and people who pretend to work, labor slow downs and even sabotages, and theft from govt warehouses and supplies.

When you steal a govt potato, you can claim it is from your garden because it looks exactly like a homegrown potato. I have had friends in these countries. One stole stamps from a govt office to post letters. They ate zoo animals that died. Meat was scarce. Another had a small garden and sold food on the black market. Access to medical care obtained thru bribery. The utopian ideal never reflected reality because it was contrary to the laws of human nature. It led to poverty and extortion of the masses, but not the oligarchy. I saw heat, food and luxuries available to the elites while common people went hungry.

Hi Dr. Steven, I tend to agree that one explanation for the anemic US resistance is that most citizens are still clueless about what is really going on. It seems inevitable that more and more people will realize what is happening... by then it could be too late, but if not, I too hold out some hope that Americans can still surprise everyone. One other possible consequence of the universal drugging of society, besides greater susceptibility to viruses, is just a general mental fogginess and lethargy, which could also explain the lack of sharp resistance.

Thanks for this collective wisdom, Gui, Stanley, Almond and Darzoum. These early morning (for me) discussion threads are a source of hope, learning, and reflection that often bring inspiration as we endure the onslaught of evil and greed, the most serious "virus" infecting humanity. I cannot help but contrast the response in America to 911 when, at least temporarily--until the wars started--we had a collective sense of purpose, concern, patriotism, and collaboration, whereas now we have the deep divides abetted by media bias, censorship, and of course the greedy, unethical, power of elites who seek power and control.

The issue of Fake Food you mention, Stanley, coheres perfectly with the genetically-modified vaccines and plethora of prescription drugs; honestly, Almond, I had no idea it was as high as 12 per person. My 91 year-old mother still climbs stairs, does yard work, drives, walks her treadmill and manages to keep a positive attitude (much better than her son) despite the many challenges she's faced throughout life. An inspiration of self-giving love and care for others as a source of meaning. She's on one prescription drug, had us taking supplements, including cod live oil, since we were infants, and continues to support her healthy lifestyle with good food and high quality supplements.

I look at her as a model of healthy, meaningful living for seniors. It concerns me that the elderly are high priority 1 for these experimental vaccines. She lived through the Great Depression and WW II, which probably gives her perspective as we face our current struggles. Perhaps I'm trying to be too optimistic that the public will wake up sooner rather than later to stand up against the social control and possible medical tyranny we face; as a culture we've been numbed by our addiction to cell phones, consumerist culture, and distractions. We can learn much from the wisdom of our parents' generation.

Yes, Stanley, divide and conquer. A patent terrain is vaccines, where we have a serious confrontation, the partisans say that we must vaccinate ourselves out of solidarity and do not realize the truth of vaccines, of the great empire that feeds the greed of an all-powerful BigPharma that uses the media of information and of the complicity of the institutions and millionaire elites, to present a bleak panorama if we do not get vaccinated. The objective is for citizens to raise the accusing finger against each other, even becoming a human pack hunting who the oligarchic elites indicate to us.

With this they try to divert our attention from the cloud of misery and rot that this humanity lives. All these deep state corporations have clear objectives, while they teach us an empty hand or while they point out the alleged culprits of their excesses, they rob us with the other, to satisfy their greed, for everything necessary to enhance their present and future luxury. Without any shame they throw the troops to fight each other, cannon fodder. When the casualties reach the limit of what is bearable, they will reach an agreement to share the cake. You guys are forgetting that public health officials these days, apparently do not understand health! From actions taken this year, they demonstrably learned about population controls: how to justify their edicts and subsequent enforcement. Initially, nobody focused on the health or boosting immunity, took months before any news came out that they started to look at supplements for health, MONTHS! Here's an interview I listened to (read) last night, in Dutch with English subtitles, describing "upsidedown Netherlands" with Willem Engel, entitled "The corruption of science" : www.bitcute.com/.../PxUG0qXX1e1F - in this interview, Willem gives his background as a microbiologist, and details his response to nearly every action taken by the state, the absurd timing. Its a bit hair-raising.

Meanwhile, Jon Rappaport has a fabulous blog posting on Dec 7th, (this is Pearl Harbor Day) on The Art of War as evidenced by the covid-19 response here: blog.nomorefakenews.com/2020/12/07/the-china-lockdown-sun-tzu-and-the-.. - this has a sinister read-between-the-lines aspect I cannot quite shake. stanleybecker, You mentioned something that crystallized for me a growing awareness, "The death of human fellow feeling". I have come to notice over the last 9 months of this "virus" that people have completely lost the ability to feel compassion for one another. I see people in public eyeing each other with what I can only describe as hatred, or at the very least, contempt. I tried to tell myself I wasn't seeing this, but now I see it everywhere. It is palpable. What a brilliant way to destroy the human soul! I struggle all the time trying to understand how it is that Evil is allowed to exist in a realm where God rules. I am not particularly religious, so the possible answers to my constant query are spread across the physical, secular and religious world. After a report I saw on a reputable TV show recently about UFO sightings exposed by a whistleblower in the Pentagon, I even considered the idea that maybe we are some "toy" or experiment of some higher life form who has placed us on this planet for their own entertainment. I know, it sounds crazy, but this whole thing is surreal. We are truly divided, so when comes the fall?

dog1678, This summer, when the virus wasn't doing much, I was on the checkout line at Bed Bath & Beyond, picking up some natural product they carry. An older gentleman in front of me turned around and mentioned that I was not 6 ft behind him. He looked closer and although my cart was out in front, I was standing on the assigned person circle on the floor! This is a basic example of what abject fear does to some people. Consider yourself lucky people are not hissing at you to get away from them! This happened in the supermarket, to an associate down the hall at work. Many are tv-addicts. You may want to get out in nature, take a walk away from masked people, take time to re-center yourself, and turn off the tv, especially stay far away from network news!

I had a thought that I haven't seen addressed - how about the trauma to babies whose parents went from non-mask to masking? I know I'd be emotionally damaged from not being able to see my mommy or daddy's face - especially if I started my life viewing them full-face - nothing covering mouth and nose. Heck, I'm 65 and these face-diapers traumatize me! I didn't even like peek-a-boo as a small child. My kids didn't either.

Hi @antieM, you make a really significant observation. La Leche League for breastfeeding mothers, that I belonged to way back when, was always such a helpful and kind organization where you could meet other new mums and exchange ideas and discuss a particular topic, usually presented by a leader - ours had several children and an adopted child. If a mother decided to bottle feed we always used to say, don't worry, just try to remember to change sides when you're holding baby so that eyesight will develop evenly in both eyes. -Something that happens naturally, of course, when you breastfeed. I must identify with you because I also never liked peek-a-boo as a small child. I also detested being tickled and at an extremely early age, thought what is wrong with this person doing this to me?!!

I am, increasingly, encountering aggressive remarks about the fact I do not cover my nose with a mask. People in shops, mainly, self appointed policemen and women, who have been so brainwashed they just parrot what is said on the news. You can tell that they haven't got a clue about how they are being manipulated and terrorised. It also gives their sadism an opportunity to flourish. There will be civil wars if these lockdowns and restrictions continue. My fellow citizens scare me more than anything else.

The techno fascists can only get what they want, if they are able to pit people against each other. They know most people, even the so called "educated" ones, are either stupid or made stupid by continuous brainwashing and lately scrubbing all channels from alternative narratives. It is the good old "divide and conquer" strategy; also employed by politicians for decades, so they can remain in power and make $$$. In the stupid category, the biggest ones are the "doctors" - who just wear a lab coat and pretend to be "high priests", without actually knowing the basics - ask one of them about nutrition, and just observe their blank faces. Ask them, how a cloth mask can trap viral particles which are 100 nanometers in diameter; and see them squirm for a stupid answer, like "at least the particles that are caught up with larger water emissions, can be caught with a cloth mask" - as if everyone at the store is drooling or coughing all the time.

Groupthink and conformity in deference to authority becomes more and more powerful the longer the group members are exposed to the source of indoctrination, radicalisation and brainwashing - mainly by the media, propaganda organisations such as the BBC and misinformation or censorship on social media. The only known cure is to remove individuals from the source so that that they can begin to recover their (un)common sense, are no longer the victims of cognitive dissonance and are able to react rationally to the evidence in front of them. Only then might they consider the logic of C-19 deaths in the vulnerable sections of the population being statistically the same as those from other infections in any given year, that official testing methods are not fit for purpose and that case numbers are being equated with test numbers or with those who die from any other cause.

You could try persuade them to remove all media sources from their lives for one month just as an experiment to see if they feel differently. If we had no TV, newspapers, social media, internet, there would be no pandemic as we would not be aware of any unusual infection. Certainly some elderly people and those with co-morbidities would not survive any viral or new flu strain, although those receiving the flu vaccination would be more susceptible. The “pandemic” is more a pandemic of mind control than infection as the vast majority of citizens are unaffected or show mild symptoms similar to the common cold. About one per thousand can contract a viral infection from which they do not recover. We cannot really prevent this in any given year unless we isolate the vulnerable. To isolate the healthy and destroy global economies on the threat of infection of the common cold or influenza is - applying once more some logic and common sense, much more likely to result in death and disease for the majority.

Lockdowns are not effective in the suppression of the natural course of a virus. They ARE effective in suppression of freedom, happiness, and independence from government overreach. I'm convinced that any benefits of face-masking are FAR outweighed by the medical and social damage from masks. Sadly, the only effectiveness of masking is the masking of the truth by bureaucrats, media, and the panDemocrats.

You don't catch Covid-19 outdoors. You catch it indoors where there's little to no fresh air being brought in. Plus, being outdoors boost Vit-D production. Pence to receive public vaccination on Friday Vice president Mike Pence and his wife Karen will receive their Covid-19 vaccine shots on Friday at the White House, the Trump administration has said. The inoculations will be filmed and broadcast live to boost "vaccine confidence" among the US population. President-elect Joe Biden is also expected to be given a dose of the vaccine in public, perhaps as early as next week. From a comment on Naturalnews.com: " Pence hasn't openly done a thing to sabotage Trump. But silently, he definitely has! He recommended every single traitor Deep State member to his cabinet. Pence should not be trusted.

He is the one that got Trump to fire Flynn. His is the one that recommend scum like Bolton get in. Pence has been the silent killer. Trump didn't know how Washington worked, never been a politician. Didn't know who is who; so Pence was there to silently sabotage him all along. He's a piece of a crap. Trump should remove him from VP and put Flynn in. Who was at the McCain funeral, bumping elbows with all the Deep Swamp creatures? Pence. Just like Graham 'played nice' for awhile, their bread is buttered with the establishment. I don't know if I believe all the conspiracy theories out there. But what I do believe, people will do anything for money and power. It seems very possible that Trump opponents in the USA worked along with China who wanted him gone after his imposing of tariffs. Release a virus to the world, but particularly during the election year. Use media to exploit fear; use monetary incentives for hospitals to exaggerate cases by using mere exposure as a "case" of infection; give free testing at stadiums and large centers where tests may or may not be reported correctly.

Thus creating not just a bad flu but a pandemic in need of mandates that started out for only 2 weeks to get acceptance to the new normal, then create more panic and extend the mandates as long as they need.

With the inflated numbers and fear mongering, the people are willing to continue this but what's worse is the ones that don't are forced. Not by the government directly, but indirectly. Government can control businesses, clearly, and by doing so, control the individual. I think the federal mask mandate that Joe Biden is planning isn't for our health....we are all already masking. It is for another purpose I believe. I live in an area where you can't go into any establishment without one and people are all wearing them outside, with very little exception yet our "cases" are skyrocketing and things are shut down to essential only.

So why the federal mandate? If Joe gets away with that (he will because nobody will fight it since we are all still in masks anyway), it could set a precedent for the Federal government to have the power to mandate all states to require a vaccine, yes, a vaccine mandate! If that happens, we are going to be forced to have a vaccine that may not be good for us, and very unnecessary. We may have to have them every couple months too. The ones who refuse will not be allowed to go to theaters, travel, etc. Shut down for life!

The snappy reply is: "Look at me, what do YOU think?" Those things serve as a billboard too and my newest message written on the back will be: Are you sure, don't you mean Conspiracy Hypothesis?

A theory is a tenable argument based upon evidence, fact and repeatable experimental outcomes. A hypothesis is speculation on a plausible scenario but without the support of empirical evidence. The phrase "conspiracy theorist", intended as a pejorative by those parroting the phrase is, accurately speaking, conspiracy hypothesis. I am prepared to not take a vaccine. Every vaccine I have ever had has caused bad reaction in my body some of which are still with me today over 50 years later. When I had my last vaccine that I was forced to take by my mother and the doctor and nurses I vowed to myself that I would never take another vaccine. My own mother died in my arms in under one minute of having a flu shot. They revived her 5 times that day. She just couldn't hang on. I am still not over it it was the worst day of my life. I don't know what will happen to me if vaccines are mandated. My family doesn't support my dissension to not take it. So I am not sure that I will be able to get the things I need to survive. My partner doesn't want to take it either he is old and sick but he has never had a flu shot.

Every since my last vaccine I have been determined that at least I would fight to have control of my body and what goes into it. I grow a lot of my own food and try very hard to not eat and bunch of chemicals. I try to stay active but my circle is getting smaller and smaller no church, no going to the gym, no workshops or, other social gathering. I have been kicked off all social media because of my stand against vaccines. Vaccines have wrecked havoc in my whole family several of my nieces and nephews are autistic and have other health problems such as sever allergies, asthma and diabetes which does not run in my family.

First of all, I have little compassion for people who have had the means to help themselves and have chosen not to do so. There are some extremely vulnerable groups that do have my compassion, though. - Children who are at the mercy of selfish or ignorant parents and can do little to help themselves. Too often, I have seen good kids trying to raise their immature and irresponsible parents. There are some things not covered in the James Corbett video. I would like to emphasize that familial poverty related to lockdowns is a strong influence on children's welfare. It has been said metaphorically, that, when the US catches a cold, the rest of the world gets pneumonia. -

Or, as stated by the Canada Free Press, "Because without the US, there is no free world." Problems in Chinese orphanages (and many other countries) are greatly increased by economic and isolation factors. Many baby girls are dying horrible deaths and it is the infant girls who are most likely to be abandoned in societies where there is a one-child policy. There are many countries, esp. those with a strong Muslim influence, where very young girls are being married off to older men. Because of poverty, their families can no longer afford to feed them. In the US, many students are not keeping up with academics because schools have shut down.

We are raising an entire generation of stupid socially-maladjusted young people whose only interaction is through a cell phone or online. The elderly frail in nursing homes may be confined to their rooms suffering further from lack of sunshine, being deficient in vitamin D and being served portion-controlled meals without many fresh fruits and vegetables. Many people no longer even try to access medical care. There is a dangerous shift towards dependency-training where people are taught to comply with govt mandates instead of deciding how to run their own lives. Culture and history are being lost due to isolation and lack of interaction between people.

hi Almond~ there are so many inequalities on our planet~ but in giving the points you have raised some serious consideration would like to point out that much of the prejudice that revolves around gender has its roots in the evolution of the patriarchal system of male superiority~ the abortion of female infants shows cultural bias similarly to the bias for lighter skins which keeps so many out of the sun in order to avoid darkening of the skin {tanning}~ most Asian cultures carry this prejudice~ your other theme which SELF RELIANCE makes very good sense in a world where selfishness/ self gratification/ self aggrandizement are actually encouraged by consumer advertising~ survival becomes the "how to" that hones what is necessary for survival into practical efforts~ thank you for the post

"Humanity's fight against power is the fight of memory against oblivion." It is the phrase of the writer Milan Kundera that is repeated the most by the Indian ecofeminist, philosopher and PhD in Physics Vandana Shiva, a world leader in environmental activism and the author of numerous books. In the end he wonders who really feeds the world? and connects with environmentalism, with the ancestral knowledge that nature keeps. We must consider that the inequalities between men and women, between Western societies and underdeveloped countries is clear and on different comparative scales.

The underdeveloped countries are where misery, hunger, poverty, diseases and deaths will be promoted, especially children. Embracing life: women, ecology and development, constitutes the praxis of ecofeminism: biotechnology, consumption and reproduction of the last book and, among its many advice for international organizations, the report highlights that the majority of farmers in India are women. Vandana says "Women are the midwives of agriculture. Capitalism and colonialism are hunger, malnutrition, depravity. For people to have real food and for farmers to grow it freely, the system has to change "

Unfortunately, COVID is promoting hunger and misery among the weakest. The global charity Save the Children issued a report warning that in 2020 an estimated half a million girls under the age of 18 would be forced into marriage and up to 1 million more would become pregnant as a result of government closures and other economic impacts of the pandemic. According to UNICEF, the number of children living in extreme poverty is expected to skyrocket by the end of the year, with 122 million to 142 million more families of children unable to make ends meet. Many of those families could find themselves offering their young daughters in marriage for years to come.

Self-reliance and networking are the means by which you "opt out". You can also learn to live very well and comfortably off things other people discard. Taxes seem to be an unavoidable expense, but it becomes easier if you can budget to reduce other expenses. You do not need to buy everything, but can borrow, barter or work for it. Go together with friends and neighbors on bulk purchasing. Get that patch of land under your feet, work it and hold it. That offers incredible opportunity and autonomy.

Some things in life never change--the need for food, water, shelter, heat, clothing. There are many ways to manage these quite economically, but you still need to pay taxes if you own land. So, buy land wisely where taxes are low, land is good and offers opportunity. One of your most valuable assets is good neighbors. Talk to neighbors before you make offers on land. Listen and ask questions. You will learn a lot. Or, if you are in a city, as my brother said... he would never buy another house without spending the night out front on a lawn chair observing what goes on after dark.

From the end of this article: "Now's the time to fight back: to resist any and all unconstitutional edicts. Once the "new world order" is in place, you will no longer be able to do a thing about it. We must keep pushing for transparency and truth. We must insist on medical freedom and personal liberty. Do not allow yourself to be bullied into silence." So, the man says,"we must do something about it!" Frankly, I'm sick of hearing this pathetic remark. Nearly the whole article laments all the problems facing humanity. But here's the deal- "No One gets any more points for saying it's starting to rain," said Noah. The proposal is to Resist!!! Right. Resist by pleading and begging your Masters to have a bit of leniency. By mentioning to your Masters that perhaps they should follow the rules they swore to uphold (constitution).

By pretending to humiliate your Masters when you catch them ignoring their own edicts. Come on, people. This is it. This is the final round. You either score a wild knock-out punch, or you lose everything. This is not a childhood fantasy, and this is not a game of Pretend that everyone gets tired of and moves on to something else. This is war - a war on your life, your freedom, you humanity. It's time to start kicking ass, directly rebelling and eliminating the obstacles in your way. You cannot appease your Master. His demands never end... as long as you sincerely believe you HAVE a Master... as long as you continue to believe any other human being has rights and powers you do not have. NO ONE IS ABOVE YOU. We are equals under Natural Law. That's the beginning and end of the discussion. If you cannot handle eliminating obstacles, then get out of the way.

"I have, myself, full confidence that if all do their duty, if nothing is neglected, and if the best arrangements are made, as they are being made, we shall prove ourselves once again able to defend our Island home, to ride out the storm of war, and to outlive the menace of tyranny, if necessary for years, if necessary alone. At any rate, that is what we are going to try to do. That is the resolve of His Majesty's Government-every man of them. That is the will of Parliament and the nation. The British Empire and the French Republic, linked together in their cause and in their need, will defend to the death their native soil, aiding each other like good comrades to the utmost of their strength.

Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous States have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end, we shall fight in France, we shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our Island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender, and even if, which I do not for a moment believe, this Island or a large part of it were subjugated and starving,

Then our Empire beyond the seas, armed and guarded by the British Fleet, would carry on the struggle, until, in God's good time, the New World, with all its power and might, steps forth to the rescue and the liberation of the old." - Winston Churchill speech June 4, 1940 This is the way to go. More capitalist philanthropy from the big monopolies. On November 16, Jeff Bezos, whose personal wealth has grown by nearly $ 70 billion since the pandemic began, "invested" $ 10 billion into the Earth Fund, with the majority of the money receiving large ecological groups with structures elitists, richest conservation and environmental organizations in the world. Less than a quarter of the first round grants will go to intermediary funds that support thousands of grassroots communities cultivating solutions on the front lines of the climate emergency. The inequalities could not be more striking.

Perhaps Bezos thought that the Earth Fund could absolve him and Amazon of the injustice they continually defend. But no amount of greenwashing will distract from the historical and current deprivation of Amazon workers, who are struggling to realize basic dignity and human rights in the workplace. In the link to a partial list of letters addressing power and funding disparities and the harm inflicted far too often by philanthropy and big green organizations that span many decades. I read somewhere awhile back, that to solve the growing homelessness, multiple families will be assigned a house to live in. How? Since most people don't outright own their home, the banks can recall mortgages (they did that in the dust bowl era, even to farmers who weren't behind in payments!) They have all the data on the house, size, bedrooms, bathrooms and have already decided how many can live in that space. With the power to tax, they can tax the ones who do own their homes so high that they would be forced to take in people. Made me think about the article I had read, when Biden recently publicly stated he will let 20 million refugees in this next year, as to where they would live....tight quarters, everyone monitored by each other making sure they get their fair share of food etc. We must pushback. Protests locally will bring more awareness, get people to think for themselves. People will join, there is hope in action!

epi-cure, Dan Gilbert, chairman of Quicken loans cashed in on folks just trying to keep their mortgage paid. My friend that will retire in a few weeks and see her income drop was very concerned about being able to pay her mortgage. She refinanced with Quicken loans and reduced her monthly mortgage payment by $100.00. The refinance cost (closing costs) was $4,000.00 and added to the loan. $4,000.00 straight into Dan Gilbert's bank account.

Otis, thanks for the lowdown on the predatory behavior. It's what I figured. And stay off the streets, please. I heard somewhere there's a shortage of Sterno.

In general, the reason that most people fail to resist these changes is due to their relationship with the comforts modern society has afforded. Until discomfort becomes so prevalent that the masses become restless and disturbed enough to act there will not be a gathering large enough to affect what has been happening to dismantle our freedoms. It is not likely to happen, though, because the pace of change has encouraged adaptation.

The Great Reset is just a new term for New World Order, their agenda has always been depopulation but God still provides for his children. The NWO is a demonic kingdom which has been established on the earth but there is also the Kingdom of God spoken of in the bible, seek that kingdom, not the devils kingdom, and never take the Mark of the Beast.

I used search for "psyc" for any variation of psychology and didn't see any discussion of the motivation of authoritarians to do the bidding of the Luciferian globalists. I suspect it is not a vast conspiracy at the lower levels and instead it is some personal desire for power which seems equally as weird to me that they would seek that at the expense of all the harm it causes. I really really should not be the one who brings up the question of the psychology of that because I differentiate myself from practically everyone by calling them Earthlings with a meaning that I see things so differently than most who just seem to look around and see what everyone else is doing and figure there must be intelligence behind those choices, so they just do that without much thinking. It puzzles me a lot and for a very long time.

I watched a friend grow up as a child who was so opposite of me in that he followed everything so well and so conventionally without question that oddly to me with him being the ultimate follower, without changing from that, he inadvertently became a leader among his entire college class that followed him home across the country for spring break. I went with them curious of that oddity noticing them discussing possibilities of what they were going to do that evening. So many were taking positions while involved in planning the evening yet with no sign of any agreement. Then out of nowhere, without even showing the slightest interest in planning anything, my friend simply said he is going to a night club he knew nothing about. Oddly, without any discussion and no questions and no dissension and in unison, all of them went to the club and filled the place from empty to suddenly packed with the group of about a hundred fifty of them. Within just two minutes while the band came on stage readying themselves to play, my friend, without saying a word, got up and walked out with all stopping mid-conversation and getting up and following him out ...

(2) ... just as the band started to play. Perplexed at their rapidly emptying establishment coincidentally seeming to be related by timing to the start of their music, the band stopped and was pleading they will play something else which must have been puzzling to them not understanding the dynamics of what just happened and this was one group and not random patrons all hating their music as it must have appeared. I felt bad for them. My observation is that none of all these people understood the dynamics as they just did it as what must have just been their way just as birds flock and fish school. I don't understand.

But, I want to because I can be very politically effective and want to put a stop to the following of the authoritarians of this virus excuse for otherwise unacceptable political agenda. Why are people following all of it? If I were to guess, really not being the one to understand this, I would guess it's some circular oddity of everyone is doing it because everyone is doing it. How do I break this circular reasoning combined with belief in "consensus science" (oxymorons) that is fostered by media (Luciferian globalist owned networks) lies? I applaud the large proportion of independent thinkers who are regulars here in Mercola.com comments. Big box stores were allowed to stay open because THEY have millions of dollars in stocks in those companies. They aren't going to let those companies go under. I don't buy anything from Amazon, never have. I do very little online shopping. Instead I buy directly from the manufacturers website

A big thanks to evil US politicians that have destroyed by their tyrannical measures PERMANENTLY 48% of all small businesses. The sad part is that a lot of people but particularly these supposed DNC pseudo liberals that it is their jobs that are being destroyed because 85% of all jobs are not created by Wall Street fascists US multinationals but you gusted it by small and medium business. But hey Bill HITLER Gates is 300 billion richer. Now Dear USA Sheep do not forget to lower your pants and take the Adolf HITLER GATES vaccines, specially that chinese researchers have discovered that the virus and most probably the eventual virus also attacks and destroys spermatogenesis. Not a surprise since USA is Nazzi Germany on steroids.

Hello Dr. Mercola and friendly staff, First, I want to thank you for signifying me as a platinum member. I appreciate the metallic card as well as the extra benefits allowed to me. Now I want to let you know that I listen to crroww777 radio and he just had on David Wolfe as one of his guests. David gave Dr. Mercola big props, deservedly so. David Wolfe put out some great health related info about mushrooms, c60, etc.

I think "covid 19" is necessary for the "RESET". Anytime you got to reset a system , everything has to shut down to zero. God only knows what that entails when it is all done. New Age of Aquarius is upon us on 12/21/20. Going from water to AIR. What's it all about Alfie? After a bottle of wine, I'd say "See Ya "! OOWE Sa SA Hit em' in the Head with a big Kabosa, OOWE SA SA

Between you and Clive deCarle, and now David Wolfe, People like myself have an alternative to main stream "Health Advice". I just wish the good doctor saw patients at an office so I could visit and get one on one personal advice. Actually it would be a great medical practice if Dr. mercola would be joined by Clive and David for a Homeopathic practice. I want to personally thank you for all the advice over the years on good health and your genuine enthusiasm of helping us all live healthier and happier lives. As the old adage states, "if you have your health you have EVERYTHING". Cheers, Steve Horvat

Thank you Dr. Mercola and all those who submit their excellent views too. I now have a much better understanding of why our Jewish friends allowed themselves to be led like "lambs to the slaughter" , before and during the WW11 Holocaust. They simply could not believe that fellow human beings could be so evil and chose to disregard the warnings. It is happening again starting the year 2020. I cannot share these articles with family and friends, even my partner. My tired brain is being blamed for all the conspiracy theories I try to share and discussion is not allowed. I just hope I never feel compelled to say "I told you so", in my lifetime.

Looks like certain communities are more vulnerable than others, and they have two major issues stacked against them. One is poverty and the other is access to knowledge by which they can lead healthier lives. The elites know this vulnerable class and have used their underlying weakness, to drive the numbers and narrative of this fake pandemic. Even a large percentage of well to do people, have no idea how to feed themselves, to stay disease free. I know that with the right knowledge, people can feed themselves with good nutritious food, on a very small budget. I am wondering if there are local grassroots organizations that are trying to do "community education" - so people can get the skills/knowledge of taking care of themselves, eating real food, on a small budget?

Do the statistics show that the northern climates with less natural vitamin D have more disease than say Australia with plenty of natural Vitamin D?

You need to start prepping. Hopefully you've been doing this for years. To survive The Great Reset, you need to learn to grow your own food. Again, you probably already do. The technocrats will cut off your electricity (and every other aspect of society) if you don't comply. Get solar panels and a diesel generator. Stock up on diesel while you still can. Don't use gasoline because it is inefficient and unsafe. I don't think diesel expires as quickly as gasoline. Also keep diesel for your vehicles. I recommend getting a diesel pickup truck. Diesel because efficiency and truck because of capability. You may be driving through forests and deserts. Also, make sure you have a gun. We need to kill the technocrat police. Only use a gun when you have to to save bullets and ammo. If you read Natural News, you would have done all this. I wish you all good luck, hopefully you've been doing the above for years.
