Never ending attacks on wholesome foods and our ability to have them. Attacks, repressive regulations crippling, killing Real Farms who can't begin to afford them and don't need them, pushed by Monopoly Big Ag who cannot produce a product for the shelf without them. Worse, yet as an inferior product compared to the Real Deal Healthy Meals, the same Monopoly Big Ag cry over regulations, red tape, but only for them to lower their own standards even further. Great truths and interesting links, Mr. Farmer - In January 2024, Amish farmers are still being raided and Bill Gates is still buying more farmland in the United States. Food plant fires and bird flu are cleverly disguised attacks, but they all have one goal... to take control of the food supply. However, in the COVID era it is not the first time this has happened. Far from there. In the 19th century, the United States government definitely played a role in shaping the destiny of Native Americans. How they did it? The government allowed the decimation of the buffalo herds on the Great Plains.

When the buffalo disappeared, it was easier to force Native Americans onto reservations. Because? Because their main source of food had disappeared. Fortunately, American conservation groups established a bison reserve in Yellowstone National Park, and numbers have since recovered. There are 55 million acres of land on Native American reservations, but only five percent of that land is privately owned. The federal government owns and operates the rest under the guise of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), part of the US Department of the Interior (DOI).

False promises made by governments have been repeated time and time again. King Charles and the Davos gang are taking steps to manage our "boiling planet" at the same time, stuffing their faces with sausages. It's akin to nagging ourselves for reducing our carbon footprint while flying carbon-intensive private jets to WEF meetings anywhere in the world.

Great link Gui. The land is yours as long as the Buffalo roam. Killed all the Buffalo, through the private sector - railroads, and then come the Long Knives and git out. The land is yours as long as the Grass is Green and the Waters flow. Then comes winter and the Long Knives and git out. It's all legal, word of the law we wrote, wink, wink, nudge, nudge, just not the Spirit of the Law. The more things change the more they stay the same. Part two to all this? If they will do it with you, they will do it to you.

Gui, it is ironic, and funny, that you say that King Charles and his gang are stuffing themselves with sausages. A nickname for Charles is sausage fingers since his fingers are always swollen. He hides his hands in his pockets in photos.

The story about the Amish farmer who had his livestock confiscated by the authoritarian Biden-Harris regime has been circulating in various stages for weeks. Like many people, I heard the basic details and it all infuriated me. But a deeper dive into it by James Corbett really opened my eyes. This should be the top story to make the case that the FDA, USDA, and all federal government agencies involved in food tyranny must be completely disbanded. They are not here to protect us. They are only here to protect the globalist agenda. The USDA and FDA should be considered terrorist organizations for what they continually do to small farmers and businesses.

Similar to the Rawesome raid, these farmers were doing what is called a cow share, where everyone in the community pays upfront and invests in a cow for milk or meat. This has been done by numerous farms across the country as a way to avoid using meat processors and big companies to get clean, properly grown, healthy food, without all the extra fees and government nonsense. It is the perfect business model that supports local farmers and eliminates criminal corporations and captured government organizations.

Unsurprisingly, the USDA and FDA can't let any of that happen because they're too busy allowing heavy metals, pesticides, plastics, and permanent chemicals in your food, or stamping toxic COVID vaccines on your 6-month-old, so who went to this farm and took all of their meat in refrigerators and freezers, took it to the landfill, and threw it all in the trash with a court order because they refused to listen to their unconstitutional dictates. thelibertydaily.com/details-amish-farmer-story-prove-fda-usda-should/ (09/2023)

My husband's mother and father were raised on small dairy farms in Ireland. Their main source of protein was raw milk, which they ate with their home-grown potatoes and other root vegetables. The milk was unpasteurized and completely natural, and was stored in large closed steel urns and needed no refrigeration. Milk was consumed by the family but also sold as a source of income. No one ever got sick from it, and neither of my inlaws showed any signs of osteoporosis, even though they died when they were in their late 80s and early 90s.

I grew up on raw milk in Europe. My great-grandmother brought it to us every morning straight from the cow. Can't drink the commercially-produced milk/what you find in the grocery store ... it's a dead food. Last time I had it was nearly 30 years ago; I won't go near the stuff.

Posted On 02/27/2024

Same here. Organic milk in stores is not much more than white water with added chemicals.

I grew up in a suburb and as soon as I was old enough I quit drinking milk because it felt dead/fake to me. I couldn't stand the stuff. Because of various health issues I decided to try 'raw' (REAL) milk and I bought it from Amos Miller. OMG! The difference between the real and fake milk is like night and day! I love raw/REAL milk. I had to start out with just small amounts at first but now I can handle it much better as far as digestion goes. Amos Miller's Kefir is to die for! It's even better than what I'm making now. I also love his cheeses.

I was livid when I saw what the government did and have happily donated several times to his givesendgo page. BiomedMom1, I found it interesting that you too, see 'regular' milk as dead. If I can't have raw milk I'll go without. For now, I've found a local farmer who can supply our milk but I'll also continue to support Amos once he is able to sell nationwide again. With all the DRUGS coming in over the border you'd think this gov. administration would go there to crack down on the evils there and leave honest farmers alone.

We should inundate the courthouse mailbox and/or the PA Dept of Agriculture with postcards telling them "US citizens support FREEDOM of choice!" and "We stand behind the Amish farmers! Back off!" Etc.

Hello Colorado Citizen! I think your idea is fantastic. I'm from PA, drink raw milk I can buy locally either at my local farmers market or at the independent pharmacy downtown. If I can't drink milk raw-I won't drink the other "white water". I am going to follow your suggestion and I beg others-especially if a PA resident, to do the same. One way we can let our voices be heard peacefully but in mass. How many followers does the Dr. have? How many in PA. If everyone sends a postcard-wow!!! On the heels of the Lancaster protest? The address for the dept is: US Dept of Agriculture ; 2301 N. Cameron St. Harrisburg PA 17110. Thanks!

The depopulation agenda of the satanists of the WEF takes many forms. Preventing the sale of wholesome foods is one of these. Several years ago I spent an entire day with Amos and his family. Sadly, the bigger their business grew, the more they've been hounded by the satanists in government.

The US government wants to eradicate these operations because it allows citizens to bypass processed food channels. We are being poisoned with fluoride, glyphosate and a myriad of other toxic chemicals. If we find a way around the toxic food supply, big brother will take action to shut it down. This is your tax dollar at "work."

There is a reason many people throughout the world call Americans the balloon people. Just sit outside the Grocery Store one day, the Doctors Office, the Drug Store and mark down those seeming healthy in one column and those struggling with weight, canes, motor scooters in the other. We have been poisoned for decades and it's a lot of nerve to attack healthy food sources and healthy foods.

"The January 2024 raid stems from accusations from Michigan and New York states' departments of health, which suggested two E. coli illnesses originated from Miller's raw milk or raw milk products." Wow. All this effort for two cases of illness while pharma kills and maims thousands, chemicals in our food/water make many sick, air pollution harms millions. Let's bury a single farmer while corporations steal the health of millions.

Just like the Alex Jones case was a test case to set precedent and see what they could get away with, the Amos Miller case will set the precedent that they will site to come after ALL small farmers who aren't part of Big Ag. Amos wasn't allowed to feed his own animals any of these products, despite them finding NO CONTAMINATION in the products they tested produced by Amos. Nor was he allowed to feed his family with anything on his farm. Their goal is to shut him down completely. They are coming for us next, folks.

Infuriating. I haven't believed since I was a child that the government really gives a crap about my well being, let alone my privacy and freedoms. So it's clear to me that the Amish are just one of the threats to the "agricultural plan". Our government doesn't give a twit about an individual consuming raw milk and a potential illness. The fact that they're so obvious about it tells us how powerful they are.

Years ago I lived in Portland, Oregon. Raw milk was widely available but most of it came from across the river in the state of Washington. So what did the FDA do. They outlawed transporting Raw Milk accross state lines thus denigning farmers accross the river their main market and consumers their main souce. I moved to the LA area. Raw milk was available from one dairy. Govt regulators decided to, without cause, cut down the time before the milk would be considered expired. It was fine before but by pen they decreased the shelf life driving up prices. These kinds of things need to stop. Everybody please support real food any way you can.

It seems that selling raw milk to out of state customers in states that don't allow such sales is what caught Miller in the crosshairs of the government. He needs to explain to such customers that he can no longer service them in their home state. That gives them the option to move to a friendlier state. It is up to Americans to fight the government using any loophole they have.

Do not fear. The US gov't will cease to exert any control over anyone in 54 days. On Apr 22, Passover, when the Destroyer enters the land, the Bear will tear 3 ribs from the Eagle. One of those is the entire Fed gov't in DC. DC will be nuclear ash. This beautiful product now held hostage is in fact reserved to help the locals during the time of famine to come after NYC, LA & DC are nuked. Liberty is at the door, after the cleansing by fire and a great national repentance. We'll probably be reduced by 1/3 in population but they will be the aliens and traitors within. 3ribs.wordpress.com has details for Bereans only.

This is beyond disgusting that they haven't a clue about healthy heating and instead would rather people all the processed foods that have caused more illness, overweight people needing medicine that only makes them sicker. Here we have a chance to consume nature's finest foods and they are trying to prevent us from being the owners of our own bodies. It's horrific to say the least.
