I'm sharing this with everyone I know. A lot of people think that vaccines must be okay because they themselves didn't suffer adverse reactions, or if a certain age, because their children didn't suffer reactions, however, what they don't know is that the quantity and chemical make up of the vaccines has changed over the years, and many still don't know about the proven corruption and complicity of vaccine promoters. It's difficult to understand the mindset of parents who blindly allow someone to inject multiple diseases (sometimes as much as 9 at one go) into their perfectly healthy baby. never stopping to think that this would never occur in nature. We get one disease at a time, not nine all at once. And this doesn't even address the additives in the vaccines; mercury, aluminium, altered DNA, etc. Miller's work is covered in the video series 'The Truth About Vaccines' which I cannot recommend highly enough. Everything you want to know and need to know is all in one place. Spread this information far and wide before any more children's lives are destroyed (as well as their families' lives).

Pgoltz, scientists in China have created new vaccines, using body parts from nine (9) aborted babies, called WALVAX 2: www.lifenews.com/2015/09/09/scientists-in-china-create-new-vaccines-us.. and www.youtube.com/watch . There were 98 million Americans (between 1956 through 1963) that were vaccinated with tainted materials ie; CANCER, by the genetically altered monkeys- in their Rhesus monkeys. This "mistake", that is publicly known and admitted to, is what I believe we can attribute the huge growth in cancer rates and its ever so profitable "treatment".

The way the vaccine material was regenerated then, was to "splice" or whatever the medical term is for this, within the actual genetic code of the monkeys. Meaning, it is passed on through DNA to future generations, not just those administered the altered vaccines.

When this was discovered, it wasn't too long after, that the vaccine producers were declared "immune" (no pun intended here) to lawsuits for anything that could and has gone wrong with these vaccines.

So, not only are we looking at the most ridiculous "preservatives" ever to be injected in to human beings; mercury (thimerosal) and other proven deadly preservatives, these poisons are given to babies at their most vulnerable time of life. That time of life is within the first two years of a child's neural development! In the UK, where they do not even begin to vaccinate until a child is two years old (plus they subject them to way fewer vaccines than the USA does), they have a fraction (comparatively) of the cases of Autism than we do here. In the USA 1 of every 62 children administered the scheduled vaccinations recommended by the CDC and the AMA, WILL DEVELOP AUTISM!!!! In the UK, 1 in over 2000 will develop Autism. As though this isn't evidence enough to put off vaccination, Autism is just one of potentially 100's of auto immune diseases probably caused by these poisons that the "establishment" forces on children with heavily propagandized programs administered to parents in order to scare them in to going along with it. Despite the admission of CDC "whistle blowers" that ALL of their (CDC) statistics are false. Deliberately falsified!!!!

Stan. "Joe Public". Joe is an emotional idiot Stan. In our country Joe voted for The Heathen to govern us and now they can't understand why absolutely everything is going down the drain, so what is a little pin  to an infants health ? The worst of the worst is that my 5 children were not vaccinated themselves , now two have had children, vaccinated them, are having two more and are going to vaccinate again. These children are as well educated as can be and of course I am objecting as loudly as possible. Needless to say, I am as frustrated as can be. In the last 10 years two boy were born into this family circle, close friends of one of the children and a relation and both are autistic. South Africa is going backwards so fast that there is already no welfare services for people in need, what is the situation going to be when these youngsters are not here anymore to take care of their autistic children ? This damn false media and big pharma is so powerful and apt at mind control that I am considering approaching these kids pediatricians and informing them that, in the case of any of the next two grandchildren being affected by vaccinations, I am going to issue summons against them for lifelong maintenance for these children. At the very least they should wait until the infants are stronger before vaccinating and then definitely not vaccinate these multiple concoctions. We should hold the pediatricians responsible ? Drive the fear of God into them.

I tested one of the grandchildren's (I have a degree in Psychology) ability to remember with my cell phones code when she was around 2 years old, the child was already clearly highly intelligent, and found that after a bout of vaccination she seemed to not remember as well as previously. Of course this was not done "scientifically " exact but I have enough experience to have developed a massive frown on my forehead. I am so deeply worried that I can feel the aggression in my rising up. Maybe someone has some advice ?

I had no idea at the time that we shouldn't vaccinate our children, until I read Dr. Mendelsohn, but by then, only one was left, and we didn't vaccinate him. However, the Army did. And as far as I know, all our grandchildren were vaccinated. I didn't like it, but I have no say. I have a nephew who had a normal personality until he suddenly had a high fever. Then he developed a serious personality disorder. His parents don't think vaccination caused it. I do. Their parents take multiple drugs.

Giving my husband 14 drugs behind our backs and against our will, yes, they certainly did act synergistically. They caused acute respiratory failure, and the only reason he survived is because they could force oxygen into his lungs in the ICU. They almost killed him. The subsequent treatment he needed cost us thousands of dollars out of pocket, which we could not spare. We can't get the money back. We can't get a lawyer to represent us in a malpractice suit because that is "standard of care". BEWARE "standard of care"; it is the fox in charge of the hen house, and means they abuse everyone, so they can get away with it.

Example: they give everyone with a stomach tube, "food" that has corn syrup, maltodextrin, and possibly soy (genetically engineered all three). People's blood sugar skyrockets, so giving insulin is routine. The Frankenfood is made by pharmaceutical companies. We turned them down on pneumonia and flu vaccines. I hope they honored our wishes. He got pneumonia anyway, because of irritation from the trach cannula that built mucus, a perfect culture medium. And the vaccine doesn't address bacteria. They gave antibiotics. Bacteria. What a joke!

Dear pgoltz, Sorry for the tragic injuries that could be avoided. We must do our best to take care of ourselves, but at those times when things go down, we turn to "them" and then it almost always seems one step forward and two back. They are causing a lot of harm. I am so sorry for everything. I know they do good stuff too. I have friends who are doctors who definitely mean well. They are certainly smarter than I am, but they cannot "hear" about the vaccine stuff at this point. Young doctors have to deal with college debt, malpractice insurance, and lawsuits. And insurance companies are importing dentists & physicians from places such as India, where they skip college and go straight from high school to medical school. They do not carry the debt our home grown dentists & physicians carry. It's not an even playing field and this probably puts the physicians in fear for survival mode.

pgoltz, your story should be motivation for people to not be foolish with their health, since doctors, even when they want to, are often helpless, having been educated by pharmaceutical companies. I am sure many wanted to and still want to help people. I thank God regularly for my husband's doctor in Clearwater, Florida, who is a little more like Dr. Mercola, looking at the root causes, doing non-traditional therapies such as chelation and vitamin C IVs, ozone. I don't know how effective these things are, but I'm thinking they are a lot safer than drugs. He got my husband down to half a blood pressure pill. I wonder if someone has been compiling lists of doctors like this. They are all human beings; nobody is perfect, but we want doctors who will work with us... especially when it comes to our children and vaccines! www.youngfoundationalhealth.com acs4457 I hear you. Our older kids were "vaccinated" / received shots. There were some not so good reactions, but not the really devastating injuries sustained by others we know. Only one of our children received no vaccines. One of our daughters married a man from Columbia who was fully vaccinated and is fully in favor of "vaccinating" any children they have, since he saw the difference in the jungle people where lives were saved. I forwarded this article (and others) previously. I bought Ty Bolinger's THE TRUTH ABOUT VACCINES, and I am praying they will please watch it before the grandchildren we are hoping for are born.

ACS4457, I agree with you about Joe Public. And that's been the problem throughout human history, nothing new today. He just wants to follow a parental figure, like a child. Hence the very descriptive term Sheeple. Those of us who try to ferret out the truth and base our actions and choices on it are, and always have been, a distinct minority. There's no reason to think that can change. As social animals, like ants, bees, lemmings, bison, we are genetically programmed to "follow the leader". Those who hesitate are outliers.

I'd advise you to expect resistance every step of the way, but you already know that. One thing that has helped me, not to get any results, but to make sense of things, is to study psychopathy. I took a lot of psychology in college and don't remember anything said about it. You need to research it on your own. After a LOT of reading and thinking about it the workings of human societies finally make sense. It's NOT that everybody in power is a full-blown psychopath. Some are, most are not. It's a fascinating and illuminating subject, a real eye-opener. But like most subjects, reading one or two books isn't enough.

Yes. Any nation that stoops to infanticide is evil, displaying a blatant lack of respect for human life. If human life is so unimportant, what respect is there for other forms of life? Talk is cheap, paying lipservice to a concept or belief without acting upon it does not count. I know people who create their own "loopholes" for their belief system so they can allow for this atrocity. On the basis of this fetal cell issue alone people can use the religious objection - hopefully it will work. My daughter will be using this as she writes her essay to refuse vaccines as she continues her education at a private school that allows religious objections. Is our nation doomed? Absolutely. Could it turn around? Yes, but I doubt that it will; the lies and the greed seem to be worsening.

This is great article regarding vaccines. I have not vaccinated two of my children the one I did passed away two days later. I succumbed to pressure and have lived to regret it. I knew the day she was vaccinated things weren't right! I was told that her crying and fever were part of the recovery and she would be fine. Well she just stoped breathing! The problem now is that the government in Australia will not support solo parents if they choose not to vaccinate. No financial support and no day care. They're trapped into vaccinating as they need money to live. So there you have it. The child I vaccinated died and the two I didn't are now parents and healthy. Stop vaccinations!! Plus parents who choose not to vaccinate are ostracised, they feel like lepers in their own country.

Did not vaccinate my children after reading the book, DPT, A Shot in the Dark, over 30 years ago. I live in a state with religious exemption. I went through 4 different pediatricians before finding one, (a woman) who did not ridicule my decision. I had one pediatrician fire me as a patient while I was still in labor with my second baby because I refused to inject at the hospital. I found a lawyer who supported my views and for a small fee $300 he wrote my official letter of exemption citing cases that supported my objection legally. I filed my letter with my childrens schools, I sat through propaganda movies at the local health department, a requirement before signing papers for exemption. I kept my children out of school for two days when I received a call from the health department that there was one case of measles in the Mennonite community...miles from my home. I did not brag about my situation nor did I try to sway others. If the subject came up I told my views and received many calls from other parents struggling with the decision. I encouraged them to research and then decide FOR THEMSELVES. So, it's not easy to buck this system. I did it four times and I have never regretted it. I have witnessed children in my community damaged by vaccines and I have heard parents say they wish they had a choice...you do, just don't expect it to be easy.

It's nice to have ammunition for a talk with a doctor. But it's the law that is causing the vaccinations. This needs to be taken through the US congress as a bill that bans mandatory vaccinations. It would be even better if the governments additionally educated their peoples as to the life robbing effects of vaccines. So we need exactly the opposite to the trends that have been sweeping the world and raising the numbers of vaccinations. And it needs to be law. This is not a simple solution. It takes minutes to replace truth with a lie, and it takes years to reverse a lie that has been sold, but it needs to be done. Meanwhile, work with your doctors and educate them to the point they will feel guilty every time they inoculate a baby. Don't let them inoculate yours though.

The herd immunity argument allows individual rights to be denied for the greater social good. This is the basis of socialism and even worse forms of govt. Bureaucrats would have us believe that we are not born with God-given rights, but that such rights can only be granted or denied by the state. When one person is forced or coerced to serve the will of another, that is the definition of slavery. If you accept socialism, you reject individualism.

Historically, during the times of epidemics, the well-to-do parents of children living in cities would often send their children to live in the countryside. Ironically, the more isolated rural areas were less likely to have high herd immunity from vaccination, however crude it was in earlier times. The lack of conveniences also promoted health--physical labor, sunshine, coarse food.... For a number of reasons, parents intuitively understood that "civilization" was a threat to their children. Just living in the city was a health risk.

Vaccines and the crushing plethora of medications are part of the big Pharma/New World Order scenario. At the rear of this movement is the goal of murdering off a very large percentage of humans so the "elites can live better, more productive lives". In other words, what good are useless eaters? When you think of Bill Gates, Microsoft owner, think of his zealous promotion of the abhorrent "common core" education system. Up is down, down is up. Gates is also a vaccine-er, he loves 'em and sees nothing but sweet Nirvana from using them. If you think these billionaires are all great humans, guess again. In the immortal words of Honore' Balzac, French writer, "behind every great fortune is a great crime". The billionaires are behind dumbing down of Americans, uncontrolled immigration to provide their cheap labor, and the lovely vaccines. How nice!

And, Almond, there is no "herd immunity." In the TRUTH ABOUT VACCINES (I think that's where I heard it), those of us who HAD two kinds of measles, chicken pox, and mumps, have/had herd immunity. When I nursed our babies, they were getting a shot of that; but now, by the time women who have been "fully immunized" nurse their babies, they got nothin'. Apparently measles has become a greater threat to infants for this reason.

I agree with you totally. Since when do doctors EVER get informed consent? They NEVER tell you what will happen if you ACCEPT their treatment. Just what might happen in a few cases if you don't. If you are in the hospital, expect them to commit physical assault on you without your knowledge (through IVs and stomach tube feedings), over and over and over, and you can't do a darn thing about it. They won't listen to you. They didn't listen to me. Instead, they humiliated me, defamed me in the hospital record, and sicced Adult Protective Services on me. Can't sue. It's "standard of care" and no malpractice attorney will touch it. They almost totally destroyed our lives and a very promising recovery from the original medical condition.

musicians are born. not made. there is a biological cap on it. it's not a volume proposition & trees don't grow to the sky. there is a random distribution of skills, talents. and everything that's born, dies. just like Twain did. the rumors catch up, become facts. markets for musician output shift.

expand\contract. but whether a market conduit narrows or widens, the musicians are there. the music is there. not hearing it on the radio, or seeing it on tv, doesn't mean it's not there. i heard someone say of Santana that even if he'd never achieved fame, he'd still be doing what he does, in bars, clubs, dives – wherever he could do it. just so. audiences emerge. or not. & who cares? musicians don't play for audiences. or to move guitars. musicians play because they are musicians.

400 studies show that the more vaccines that are given at the same time, the higher the hospitalisation and death incidents! It is quite natural! "Hormesis" is what makes us strong in the sense that what kills us in too high doses often but not always strengthen us when taken in small enough doses. Today's "block vaccinations" of children are like nuts realising running is good, concluding putting small untrained children through marathons is better! Vaccination, in the sense of one clean well-monitored shot at a time, is likely good and non-destructive training, most of the times. But let's face it, multiple shots together is similar to sending those who barely can swim into deep waters. There are good ways and bad ways to save costs.

A well-proven way to build strong immune system is to get the childhood diseases like we did before, one at a time, by organising old style kids get together when known standard diseases occur. But there is only benefits to parents and taxpayers in that, no money in it for drug pushing pharma industry. So they keep lobbying and scare mongering gullible politicians, and they get away with it! Yet a Dutch study showed that having gone through childhood diseases one by one meant less disease as grown ups, including less cancer! And nobody would even dream up that getting more than one childhood disease at a time is better, yet multiple vaccinations is used! We are born with an immune system which is like an army of untrained soldiers. No generals would send untrained recruits straight into battle, yet our "vaccine generals" insist that it is the right thing to do.

sten - I am not sure that your suggestion that possibly a single vaccination might have some benefit - this is a moot point with the allergic component inbuilt with reagents - the theory being that immunity is alerted by introducing toxic substances to increase the immune signal - this theory is flawed - this theory is not producing health benefits

To Stanley Becker. Strength and immunity are increased through what is known as "hormesis", but only as long as the "injury" or challenge is managed by the exposed animals, including us. Yes, it means that one cannot be sure that a single vaccination is going to work, as you say. It depends on the general state of health of the individual and the dose. And individual strength is not checked, yet vaccination advocates usually put forward the weak as being especially exposed to disease, and that they must be vaccinated first, ignoring that they are the very ones that may often get a too large dose resulting in lifelong disease or death. Reckless!

The theory of vaccination is based on "hormetic response", which is not wrong per se. But used by uneducated politicians and profit driven pharmaceutical representants, the beneficial interval is assumed to be across the board. The main objective I have against single vaccinations are the adjuvants that are mixed in without consideration to long-term damage by accumulation combined with unevaluated same doses also for the weaker. Mercury is naturally number one to avoid, as it accumulates. Others? Read the book "Stop the Clock" by D. Mangan. A very interesting look on how to delay ageing, and some insight in that what we do to achieve that often can have a counterproductive effect. Here a link to more about "harnessing hormesis" or finding the favourable interval where stress builds up instead of breaks down. gettingstronger.org/hormesis

Also physical exercise is good for us only due to the U-shaped (upside down U, really) hormetic effect. Way too little -no effect and way too much - death. Today's "same dose for all" vaccines seem to land too many too far into danger land.

To stanleybecker re hormesis. Thank you for the link! At the end of the short wiki-explanation, it says: "It is conjectured that low doses of toxins or other stressors might activate the repair mechanisms of the body. The repair process fixes not only the damage caused by the toxin, but also other low-level damage that might have accumulated before without having triggered the repair mechanism."

A related guess/hypothetical explanation is that limited toxin exposure is only damaging old or/and dysfunctional cells, resulting in increased mopping up or cell cleaning, or what we call autophagy. Autophagy also increases stem cell production and naturally, all adaptive creatures would build in the "experience" of the stress that wiped out the last cells, likely into stem cells, since immunity usually is life-long. One could call the hormesis so described for "Cellular Darwinism". A primary up regulator of autophagy is intermittent fasting, probably explaining why sick animals refuse to eat, indicating for us the same. That my metabolic syndrome disappeared through intermittent fasting is however likely related to the autophagy consumption of the fat droplets that had accumulated in my liver. Autophagy takes many useful forms. Notably it is very active when we are young, and declines with aging. Yet intermittent fasting is well known to up-regulate autophagy, and several hormetic substances also increases it.

Hi sten & Stanley -- The body is hardwired to go through the "hormetic state" for good reason - think apoptosis - otherwise a person would die within 24 hours from - among many things - sepsis. What interferes with the body's hormesis abilities is an imbalance in natural nutrient sources or too much of a natural nutrient source - think antioxidants as an example - or TOXINS. The adjuvant's purposely put in vaccines to stimulate an immune response or as a preservative - think aluminum, thimerosal, polysorbate 80, formaldehyde, etc. - are TOXINS that mess up and/or shut down for a period of time the body's hormesis abilities. People that advocate the HepB vaccine at birth forget why Grandmothers and Mothers always told new Moms - "Don't give your newborn any form of honey for at least one year" - it wasn't because of the sugar in honey - it was/is because the enzymes in raw honey are antimicrobial and too strong for the infant's developing microbiome - the microbiota [gut] in particular. At birth a newborn's body is about 85-90% structured water by weight - that percentage declines over the first three years to around 65-70%. Can you imagine what the combination of the aforementioned toxic adjuvants exposed to non-native electromagnetic energy - think EMF/EMI and hospitals are LOADED with the stuff - does to the "life code information" in the structured water the child is born with - it "scrambles" that information which interferes with a whole lot of body system functions including hormesis. I don't think ANY form of vaccines that contain known toxins is safe or advisable for anyone anytime - toxins - among many things - interfere with the body's hormesis ability. Love, blessings and peace!

Sten_ I love your analogies! As an avid runner (typically half marathons) I also advocate for too much of a good thing is bad...I see people all the time go to ultra marathons and Iron Mans which as a lifetime goal may be fine a few times but to continually train on that level I feel mostly injures the body instead of improving it long term. Not to over simplify but let's face it that's what most people need is science broken down into common sense examples...taking a bit of poison (vaccine) is sometimes necessary to build up immunity. Similar to build a bigger muscle we need to work it to near exhaustion so it can repair and grow stronger. However the balance is difficult because lift too hard and it goes from repairable damage into real damage that needs to heal to have normal operation again. Just like vaccines- I believe we really need to move on instead of an ALL or NOTHING argument into the realm of how much and at what stage is the MOST beneficial. I hate statistics and studies because one thing I know for sure is that numbers can be slanted and twisted. Very simple to take the same results and show them in a slightly different light or comparison and make them both show the appearance of completely opposite results yet technically both be true...so frustrating that people can't look past the bull we are fed.

jamesmom, greens (kale, collards, spinach, mustard, turnip, beets, cabbage swiss chard, etc) are loaded with Vitamin K. Wouldn't a more natural and less risky way of getting the newborn adequate amounts of Vitamin K be to have the mother include these greens into her diet, and then transfer the beneficial vitamins and other nutrients to the child through the mother's breastmilk?

dude01: When my daughter was born, the midwife gave her a dropper of vitamin K liquid, and that satisfied the law at that time. She said that the vitamin K shot was necessary when baby boys were circumcised in the delivery room (a horrifying thought) and hence needed their blood to clot right away. Since that barbaric procedure is no longer practiced at birth, presumably no baby needs to have vitamin K immediately at birth, and within a day or two, they make their own vitamin K. I'm sure the pre-milk has vitamin K in it, too, as you suggest, because nature provides babies with what they need. We only interfere with the process.

I am so thrilled to see this article and this book. I have gotten into very uncomfortable debates with friends about this issue. After watching The Truth About Vaccines videos, I contacted Governor Brown's office in California where I live. I told his secretary to request that he watch these. I can't understand how Brown can be so gullible ... if not caving to pharmaceutical pressure. On another note, the Amish Anomaly (Dan Olmstead) showed only three incidences of autism in the Lancaster, Pennsylvania, community, two of which were vaccinated. When some didn't believe this, another survey was taken in 2006 by Dr. Strauss et. al., who discovered 9 autistic children, which raised the rates to 1/5000 ... US average is 1/68. A small percentage of Amish do apparently vaccinate but some only one or two vaccines as opposed to the outlandish number the CDC recommends.

hi beets - the Amish show the same ratio [of autism] as that recorded in the general public prior to Mass Vaccination - this is clearly because they are NOT vaccinating

He also told me many stories about how at least half of what you learn in medical school will be not true within 20 years. He used an example of his immunology class which had all information scrapped 2 months after he passed it. I look at vaccines as another med school lesson that will be tossed into the trash bin eventually. Unfortunately, so much damage is done waiting for that time to come.

A study was done by Erasmus University in the Netherlands some few years ago. They compared a group of children with cystic fibrosis, who are mandated to receive flu vaccines because of the parlous state of their lungs, with a group of healthy children who did not receive the vaccine. They found that the CD8 white cell population in the CF group crashed to effectively zero; these are the so-called memory cells in the immune system. Thus, although the vaccination may have been moderately effective in protecting the children from this specific strain of the virus (there are many different strains circulating every year), this comes at the expense of rendering them far more susceptible to similar-but-different strains which they may subsequently be infected by; ie their immune systems' memory of past infections, and thus ability to rapidly respond to them, is obliterated.

We have a little thing called the Charter of Rights and Freedoms which keeps doctors from physically murdering patients.

Doctors die at an average age of 56- usually far sooner than they decide to even crack a book about vaccines. Most doctors are too busy taking their own rectal temperature to pick up a book on Vaccines. Gosh- I'll bet almost no doctors out there have ever even read the inserts accompanying vaccines. Most allopathic doctors literally do not know their a from their elbow. Been limping along on my computer since Dr. Mercola made security changes. With so many other demands at this time of year, technology was not a high priority. Finally, I am fully back online again, able to reply, etc.. I made good progress on outdoor painting--plenty more to do. So much outdoor work needs attention all at once at this time of year, but being outside in warm weather is good for my skin. I must be careful not to take off clothing for too long in hot sun, though. :-) Because my largest garden is surrounded by wilderness and weed seeds continue to blow in, I am constantly weeding. However, soil is incredibly fertile. Wildlife is at a distance due to diatomaceous earth, a dilute solution of dried tiger urine and bird netting--so far, anyway. I lost a lot of sunflower seed to crows, though. I have been away fishing and done well enough to fill the freezer with many kinds of seafood, too. Need meat this fall.

My gardens are thriving. These are salad days. I pick several kinds of domesticated berries daily and they are just beginning. Popcorn grew 2' in the last 48 hours! Really! Legumes are climbing trellises, so I must string higher levels. Tomatoes! Potatoes (even sweet potatoes) are bushy. Cole crops are doing their leafy thing. Frilly carrots and bountiful beets. I am watching melons/cukes for growth spurts. Herbs and runner onions, garlic, shallots are taking off! Looks like there will be plenty of squash of all kinds for friends, family, neighbors, too. Must can peaches and cherries. I probably planted everything wrong in my haste to get seeds in the ground, but nature is benevolent and generous. Wild berries soon--such abundance, wondering whether I should start a second carboy of wine. Must invite neighbors over to pick, too. I help those who are ambitious and willing to help themselves. I am feeling esp. blessed. I am reminded that work is opportunity. Opportunity is often unrecognized because it comes knocking dressed in work clothes

Almond, Nice to see that your computer problems are solved for the time being. I remember from the end of June through August as being the worst time for invasive weeds to the garden. It was always my busiest time of work so the only way I could somewhat keep up with the weeds was by using a line trimmer between the rows of plants and then heavy mulching with grass clippings. This worked better than letting the garden go to the weeds. Now that I live in the deep south I do miss the different seasons of vegetable gardening - especially the many varieties of tomatoes that I grew. I also miss river fishing in Wisconsin in the spring and fall. I do not miss the cold weather though.

Miller states, "Before I even started to research vaccines, my wife and I pretty much knew intuitively that we were not going to inject our children with vaccines." I would like to know how he was able to exempt his children. Did he live in a state that does not mandate vaccination? By what means did he opt out? Many of us would like to learn from each other about how to do this.

Il'm fortunate that despite state mandates, I live in Oregon where I can just tell the pediatrician No vaccines. For school, every year I had to sign a form saying I have objections to vaccinations. Now, new law requires me to turn on an online video to get a certificate that promotes the wonderful benefits of vaccination. I'm so thankful I've done this. When the first child was born I was certain that an immune system adjusting to the world didn't need vaccines the day he was born. And did I ever play up the indignation of 'how dare the hospital staff presume that I was taking my child home to a hepatitis infected household.'

Unless you put your kids in daycare or an institutional setting, you actually have until they are four or five years old to avoid vaccines. At least for now. There are no states that require kids to be vaccinated if they are not cared for in a public setting. Even in California, you can refuse vaccines if you homeschool, but you do not have to provide proof until the child enters kindergarten. You might not be able to find an M.D. to treat your babies, but if they are breastfed and avoid antibiotics, they won't get seriously ill. You can always find an O.D. or even a chiropractor for well-baby visits. And so far, only three states have completely taken away your right to choose, including California, although you can still homeschool. Interestingly, as soon as California's new vaccine law came into effect, the autism rate among new kindergartners jumped that year, much higher than the rate for other ages.

Unless you live in one of those states, ask for a religious or philosophical exemption. There are many great sample letters on the Internet. As I've said many times in this forum, I have two fully vaccinated, chronically ill adult children and one nonvaccinated healthy teenager. She doesn't get checkups because she is never sick, unlike the other two, who have multiple, permanent health challenges that interfere with their ability to earn a living and live independently. She has a religious exemption, based on statements of beliefs that I submitted three times to the school. Now that she has passed the last checkpoint (ninth grade), they won't bother us again. We just don't tell anyone locally about this for fear that parents won't want her associating with their children, which makes no sense if they are vaccinated. Note that among my two daughters' friends, EVERY family has at least one special-needs child, usually a son. And everyone of their friends, without exception, has asthma or some kind of allergy.

Queen of the world: You had to acknowledge that nonvaccinating is dangerous? Did you do so, even though you must believe that is not true? Can they later come and accuse you of medical negligence? I was supposed to sign a statement acknowledging that vaccines are safe and that nonvaccinating my daughter could kill her and others, but I crossed out the statement and said, "Not true," then I signed the form.

As far as pets go, medical exemptions (where I live at least) are still OK'ed, thankfully, as I had a very ill and elderly dog that was due for "boosters" and I flat told the vet I was uncomfortable doing anything that might set him into a downward tailspin. He was given an exemption. What confused me the most is I didn't have to sign anything... On the flip side, the clinic we use for emergencies just recently decided that no "elective" surgeries (spays, neuters, dental cleanings, etc.) can be done without a full battery of boosters. As Cotton Hill so eloquently put..."I'll take mah biznizz elsewhere..."

There are many resources out there to avoid the vaccines. I am not a fan of Facebook but they have many groups that give out advice for avoiding vaccines. Many people believe they are mandatory but that is not true in most states. At the very least hold off for as long as possible and research detox to use after any shots. Never do more than one at a time no matter what they say. They will make more money for future "well baby visits", just remind them of that little fact.

The whole well baby visit thing is just a money maker. My Mother had 4 kids between 1958 and 1966 and never took any to a pediatrician. We had a family doctor and he made house calls if we got really sick which was hardly ever. He charged her 5 dollars for a visit and thank God we got very few vaccines back then. We survived Chicken Pox, Mumps and Measles. Imagine that.

Acroyali... you are right about telling practitioners "or I will take my business elsewhere". It shows how mercenary many are.. It works often enough with enough of them that I can still get occasional medical care when I refuse to answer their intrusive questions--stuff I do not want on medical records accessed by govt. I tell them that all you need to know, except for the recent injury, is that I am in exceptional health. Before you give me any drug, you will discuss it with me and get my permission. That pretty much covers everything. I have gone so far as to use an assumed name and fake address, etc. (I learned this from working in health care as I saw it often enough and knew that no one ever questioned a patient's identity as long as they paid cash-at-point-of-service. A friend also taught me to say that I want to pay cash because I am moving and do not want bills left unpaid if I am uncertain of my new address.) I used to feel guilty, but learned some hard lessons about protecting myself from those who would take advantage to harm me. Under such circumstances, all is fair.

I was interviewed on 3 NBC stations recently for 45 minutes disclosing several REAL SCIENCE issues regarding mercury and aluminum due to limited time frame, was not able to talk about more. During that interview I disclosed how SIDS happens and how Aluminum hydroxide is the main culprit and mercury is also a contributor. ALL degenerative diseases involving neurological issues is greatly caused by Aluminum and Mercury. Look at the CDC site and see how they lie, deceive, and obfuscate the truth regarding Ethyl Mercury saying it is safe because it leaves the blood in 5 days. Really? Where does it go? Methyl mercury leaves the blood in 54 days. They tell women to avoid fish when pregnant, but tell them to get a flu shot that contains Ethyl Mercury. When it leaves the blood, it goes to the brain converting to Inorganic mercury that is 50 times more toxic than methyl mercury. They give the flu shot to 6 month olds now! OMG. Aluminum coagulates red blood cells blocking all watershed areas of the body supplying oxygen with capillaries. This is what causes SIDS! They put polysorbate-80 in vaccines so the heavy metals cross the blood brain barrier easily now. They put peanut oil in all vaccines but don't disclose this in the information given to doctors because it is a TRADE SECRET! Human fetal body parts, formaldehyde, foreign animal DNA, and so much more! This is CHILD ABUSE and they should all be put in jail for life!

One thing will prevent this from being taken seriously: corporate profits. The vaccine pushers are the same ones who misjudged the flu vaccine a few years back but told everyone to "take the shot anyway". Considering the American Medical Association and the American Cancer Society, two of the most respected and relied on medical administrations in America were started by the old robber baron John D. Rockefeller. He did this by bribing corrupt congressmen (what a shock, eh?) to steer all medicine into heavy reliance on pharmaceutical drugs, to treat symptoms, not for cures, so the drugs and chemicals he had a monopoly on would have a steady supply of always sick, always dependent "customers". And yet these two awful organizations are not only the go to authorities and STILL push heavy, consistent use of often useless or even poisonous drugs but in the first thirty years of their formation had all the holistic, preventative care medical schools shut down for "quackery", along with stripping the licenses of physicians who were non-drug pushers. American medicine, with a few wise exceptions, is awful, keeping patients as obedient drugged customers. BTW, roughly a third of all prescribed drugs are merely to counter the toxic effects of other prescribed drugs. See? It's a win/win for corporate profits.

The evidence is increasingly against Vaccine Technology, but drug companies are mustering up their forces to engage on this issue. Robert F. Kennedy, jr. told me we need to have an open debate on the subject and drug companies won't allow that because they know they will lose. The evidence is way too strong against their Make-Believe-Science and they know it. The biggest problem we face is that people are using "correlations" to create the argument against vaccines and need to focus on the real science. The real science completely blows the vaccine industry into the trash! There are other factors that skew the evidence and those things need to be addressed as well. REAL SCIENTIFIC Studies need to be done by unbiased researchers, but drug companies seem to be able to continually infiltrate any issue involving vaccines. Their $30 billion dollar windfall profits where they don't have to advertise, spend money on research proving safety and efficacy, and just supply a product to be put on the "schedule" controlled by big pharma.is just way too tempting to abandon that shareholder value!

The news media is incredibly disingenuous and looking at profits and power the drug companies give them. Honesty in the media is a past we do not have today. Fox news gets 70% of their advertising revenue from drug companies. They claim they are fair and balanced. Really? Look how they promote all the drug ads and vaccines as a good thing. Wonder why? NO, most doctors still won't respect your opinion. They are brainwashed. Doctors still hand out Cipro and Levaquin like candy, in spite of 300,000 death and millions of lives destroyed.

I should always mention this. Normally elected officials are immune from lawsuits for any legislation they pass. However, I think any time an elected official votes to mandate a medical treatment (vaccines, fluoridation), he should be sued for practicing medicine without a license. Maybe eventually they will learn. What say you?

I want to comment here, about today's #2 forumless recipe article. At first glance, I thought the article pic was an Avacado dip recipe due to the typical green looking avocado color...not. But today's recipe article also reminded me that I have never liked buying any soft, mushy, ripe fruit due to taste, texture, and released fructose/sugars. And in more recent times, I have discovered that less ripened resistant starch (RS) fruit helps avoid the starchy fructose metabolism; that much better. But I found the one exception to all of this is ripe, mushy and soft Avocados whose skin has turned black, and therefore whose texture has become a soft, natural dip for my organic blue corn chips, with no fuss, other than to cut the fruit in half, and simply chip-dip (or celery) away. Green avocados simply are too hard (and sometimes also flavorless), and won't do unless you emulsify them in a blender or food processor. And also, avocados are not known for any significant and noticeable fructose on Dr.M's glycemic index for fruit chart, (they're not even listed).

Newborns should not be given Hepatitis B. I have read it is caused by infected needles used by drug users or occurs in those who have had multiple sex partners. Like the article states we are 34th in the world with the worst infant mortality rate; and many infants are dying their very first day of life.

She's no stranger to Mercola.com and here as well as in her co-authored recent book delivers a history lesson that dispels the mendacious memes of vaccine sycophants. Several others also worth watching too at AutismOne 2017

I'd like to see a study done on mandatory vaccines for college kids and lost critical thinking skills. Have you seen how these "future leaders" act anymore. It's like they'd been dumbed down and lost their minds.

A little story about vaccines, that you may print out and read for your children: The Emperors New Vaccine: helsekonsulenten.dk/wp-content/uploads/2017/06/the-emperors-new-vaccin..

And about the "evolving" microbes: they only lose genetic material. Nothing gained. But the lost material causes them to survive, for example, just as a broken bridge keeps the marching enemy soldiers from having access.

Dr Suzanne Humphries, a practicing nephrologist (kidney physician) says the vaccine industry isn't giving people both sides of the story, and parents need to get informed before subjecting their children to vaccines that can potentially cause serious harm or even death. ----1) Why she became concerned about vaccines after noticing kidney failure in patients who recently received vaccines. ----2) Why vaccines are often contaminated with unknown viral strains, and why the vaccine industry has covered up known vaccine contamination (and knowingly sold contaminated vaccines to be used on the public). ----3) Why the entire vaccine industry needs to be questioned, and why a new effort is needed to scientifically assess whether vaccines are really safe or effective.

---4) Why the fairy tale that "vaccines eradicated polio" is a false mythology -- here's what really happened. ----5) Why the "smallpox" vaccine has never been proven to be effective against smallpox at all. ----6) Why vaccine industry research is extremely flimsy and ignores rigorous standards of scientific evidence. (Using improper placebos designed to minimize the appearance of side effects, for example.) ----7) Why the vaccine industry won't test vaccines versus unvaccinated children (they're terrified of the results).

---8) Why children caught up in outbreaks of measles are often the very same children who were vaccinated against measles! ----9) Why vaccines may actually suppress the immune system and cause increased vulnerability to future infections. ---10) Why many childhood infections such as chicken pox are perfectly natural, normal and even HEALTHY. ---11) Why the outlandish and unscientific behavior of the vaccine industry is causing an erosion of credibility across all "science." ---12) Why many of the people engaged in pushing vaccines have financial ties to vaccine companies. www.brighteon.com/5dce22d3-a19a-465b-ab3b-838e78b49e48 .---

Gui, in their backwards, upside-down Universe Real, Organically Acquired Herd Immunity is denied in favor of Profits, Convenience and Control. Denied is "the disease organism mutates and becomes more virulent within the vaccinated population, it raises the stakes not only among the vaccinated but also among the unvaccinated, who are now faced with a far more virulent foe than normal. (Because the microorganisms are always attempting to evade the vaccine.)" This where the occasional Freudian Slip occurs when health officials said during the Planned-Panic, everyone has to be Jabbed to protect the vaccinated. This was also expressed during the Disney Measle outbreak pre-Planned Panic where nearly all affected had been vaxxx'ed, and a similar Whooping Cough Outbreak. Instead, we got their solution is do more of what is causing the problem in the first place. If the Vaxx's protects one, why do unvaxxxed need to be jabbed?

That's right, 160 PLUS RESEARCH STUDIES AFFIRM NATURALLY ACQUIRED IMMUNITY TO COVID-19, IN THAT NATURAL IMMUNITY IS FAR SUPERIOR TO VACCINE INDUCED IMMUNITY: DOCUMENTED, QUOTED; DR. PAUL ALEXANDER, We should not force COVID vaccines on anyone when the evidence shows that naturally acquired immunity is equal to or more robust and superior to existing vaccines. WHY IS THIS NOT FRONT-PAGE NEWS? That's the question I ALWAYS ask myself when I read an article like this or in any other forum regarding the love affair between mainstream media and BigPharma. MERCOLA ARTICLE QUOTE: Mainstream media makes approximately 70% of its income from pharmaceutical ads. They do not want to publish or promote anything, even in their newscasts that would be critical of vaccines because it could compromise their potential to keep bringing in these millions of dollars they make every year from the pharmaceutical companies.". MY RESPONSE: That pretty much sums it up. Are sick of seeing Jardiance, Ozempic, Sotykto, Ubrelyv+Yerboy and the others? Each network has its own in-house Chief Medical Editor and listening to them, it is so obvious they will not say anything to jeopardize causing the media corporations they work for to lose those $dollars$ in any way.

my son hallucinated after getting a vaccine so I said no more. His pediatrician swore at me and dismissed me when I reported it and refused any more. obviously, I fired him. also I agreed to a single vaccine but they gave him the entire MMR trio. I should have sued.

In the UK we are now bombarded with radio advertisements using the voice of a young child telling us how important it is to vaccinate all children against whooping cough and measles to prevent them dying or become disabled.

Back in the day we had a doctor check that it was "only measles" and not something serious. Some parents had measles parties so their children got natural antibodies. Whooping cough has/is treated rapidly with nebulizing minute dose of hydrogen peroxide and/or high regular dose of Vitamin C

This is sickening. How can some doctors not be convinced of vaccine injuries? They are the ones administering the vaccines, and seeing patients or parents returning to them with their side effect problems.

How can they ok when children "harmers" in prisons across the globe are treated as the worst of the worst by rapists, murderers etc. I'm afraid after a life time of believing with trust and respect I now have no respect at all Still waiting for those responsible to be held accountable. Long time passing. It is a bad omen that we are still in the same place. Most of the 3-letter agencies are corrupt. We are all being considered just flunkies on the plantation to be used as profit units.

Amen to that. Countless numbers of citizens punished for Non-Compliance, countless numbers of those who Complied as best they could but lost their lives work, some generational worth 'punished.' Yet we get...now, now, let's not get too testy, we didn't know, if - mind you -if there even are negatives it was all one big whoopsie. Further insult to injury, still getting stick to the party line with the same Bull Spit of the last four years, while drip by drip what was revealed in some corners from nearly day one is begrudgingly getting well yeah, we got that wrong. Not to worry. Kill one and it is murder, kill thousands, destroy millions of lives, means of living and it is just the unfortunate costs of doing business. Meh...
