As an ex-pat living abroad I have watched with incredulity the path Americans have taken with regard to their own personal freedoms. I was half way through this article before I twigged it was an April Fool joke! That's how far down my trust in the American government has fallen. The thin edge of the wedge was inserted back in the 50's with the introduction of mass medication for a non-communicable disease—fluoridation. It's been all downhill from there!

April's Fool today. Government policy in 10 years. The erosion of liberties in the last 15 years is astounding. The US is moving closer and closer to a madhouse, a corrupt, paranoid fascist police state. A society poisoned and paralyzed by fear, greed, paranoia, hatred, distrust, violence, corruption, cruelty, lies, brutality, and sanctimonious hypocrisy.

The FIRST CLUE that the medical system is failing and is desperate for a quick fix is when the President of the USA steps in and forces EVERYONE to have medical insurance. If the Affordable Healthcare Act is so wonderful everyone would be lined up to sign up for it. No laws would need to be passed to force you to have insurance.

The irony here is that I'm alive today because I lost my insurance in 1995 (late 94). Previously, I had been seeing only doctors my insurance would PAY FOR! I got the same old rhetoric from every doctor. When you tried to explain to them their advice made your problems worse they would not listen. I'm VERY VALUE oriented and I refused to listen to or pay for the same old rhetoric/advice. So after I lost my insurance I had a VERY low tolerance for listening to all of their High Fiber/High Carb/Low Fat rhetoric. I told each one I had been there and done that already! Finally, I found a PHD Scientist/MD who spilled the beans on the entire medical system. 90% of his advice was OPPOSITE of the mainstream medical advice. He could explain in great scientific detail why his advice was better. When you did things his way you got better! Consequently, he didn't accept insurance for payments. Now having insurance forced upon me puts a bad taste in my mouth. I'm paying for something I will never use. When and if I need a doctor I will drive 150 miles to see this guy and PAY CASH!

I also had no problem believing this article. The dependent mentality has its teeth well into the American public. I am a social worker and have been in the field since 1984, and the mentality shift, the unwillingness/inability to think critically, and the willingness to simply trust "experts" and "science" is well in place. A young woman whom I worked with when she was a teen has gone on to study for a master's in public health and she is positively rabid about the need to force vaccinations on the "stupid public" who "won't go along with what is good for them". She is convinced that every word issued by the NIH and CDC is infallible and necessary, and firmly believes that there is no personal interest or corruption in universities and "science". Despite my decades of first hand experience in systems and our relationship, she is convinced that I am "dangerous" because I don't support forced vaccinations, and has "sadly" ended our relationship because I am a "public health threat".

Unfortunately, there are many people like this young lady being churned out like a drone army in the healthcare industry.

mirandola: "I am going to suggest as before, that Any Official who legislates Anything Unconstitutional, must immediately be removed from public office".

Forced sterilization of "retarded" women was deemed "Constitutional" at the time it was enacted. As a kid, I personally knew a neighbor lady this happened to. My father pointed out an elderly WWI veteran limping across the street and told me "That man had "Jake Leg". Never trust the government".

Anybody remember "Paraquat" from the 1970's?

The wild thing is - this country is filled with Veterans who took an oath to defend the Constitution against ALL enemies, both foreign and domestic - then proceeded to have their own Constitutional rights taken from them in order to fulfill that oath - this is every single person who has ever served, not just those drafted and forced into conscription.

...and THIS is no "April Fools" joke.

Mirandola,

I admire your knowledge of the foundation documents of the US.

If the Public schools continue to not teach cursive writing/reading, then all these young people growing up will not be able to read the Original Constitution or Bill of Rights.

Hmmmmmm!

These young people will be at the mercy of interpreters.

I started getting the sarcasm a few paragraphs in, but you really have to make it extreme to be sarcastic about this government. The real news and how our rights are being trampled her very real and almost as bad as that article.

In the not-too-distant future, this may be reality unless we begin to shrink size and scope of government and big business.

grulla, i hope you are joking. perhaps i should repost what i wrote yesterday, as mirandola mentioned. obama care was never meant to help anyone except the government add some more chains to the public and make it easier to track them. the gist of this article is already written into "obama care", another orwellian term, as tortolita pointed out. i hope this april fools joke stirred up some people and they may be willing to help us put our public servants on notice and protect our republic. no one can take away your rights; remember this. we must not let things get any further.

I'm another one who got way to far into the article before I realized it was an April Fools Joke. But I don't feel like I'm gullible because I wouldn't put it past our government to try something like this. Our rights and freedoms are being stripped away far too often. It will be a cold day in hell when I let anyone inject me with a flu vaccine. I haven't had the flu in over 40 years. The last time I had a flu shot was when I succumbed to media hype over the swine flu and that shot made me more sick than any flu I've ever had. Before that my previous flu shot was given to me by my mother (RN) when I was 18 and I had the same results. I'm 64 now and haven't had the flu since I was a teenager. Anyway, I'm half laughing at this article but also half wondering when the attempt will be made to force these vaccines down our throat through legislation.

Scary! But unfortunately, as a California citizen I am seeing the stripping of my freedoms as a parent with regard to vaccines right now. THIS IS NO APRIL FOOL'S JOKE. . Look up bill SB277 (Pan). This bill completely eliminates the personal beliefs exemption to required vaccinations for school attendance. This is the only exemption that most people qualify for. The bill would apply to ALL pupils regardless of whether they are in public school, private or homeschool.

The hearing is set for Wednesday, April 8th, 1:30 PM, in the California State Senate Health Committee (Room 4203).

PLEASE call or write the Senator representing your district in California and oppose this bill as a concerned citizen or parent. This affects all of us, but especially our kids. If this bill passes, I and every other Californian will be forced to vaccinate our kids with EVERYTHING the state mandates.

If they jail you they will vaccinate you silly. I have been on this site for many years & Dr Mercola always has a good April fool article, but this one is way to close to reality. We are being prepared for this scenario with movies & Agenda 21 type local legislation; all for the "greater good". Even expating has become extremely difficult as the US has made rules that any foreign bank that takes US citizen's money has to turn over all their books to us. Most have now denied us access to banking abroad. If you try to leave the country with cash they will take it & arrest you for terrorism or drug running. Returning is even more intense.

We need to stop this by calling our legislators & educating the masses now before Google censors you, demonstrating if necessary. Freedom must be continually fought for. Doctors are even starting to understand they have been duped. My dentist [at a university] was recently forced to have the flu shot to keep his job & got deathly ill. Many many dentists are now realizing they were lied to about the safety of amalgams & fluoride [even though they are forbidden to talk against it by the ADA]. I personally know doctors that have come around to the lies about safety & efficacy of many of the drugs they prescribe beside vaccines. I give them a list of vaccine ingredients from the cdc.gov and a list of 300+ fluorinated drugs from www.slweb.org. If you tell two people & they tell two people & so on it will spread like the Vidal Sassoon commercial.

Even those of us "over 57 who are exempt" will not be as they will roll out more & more vaccines. Medicaid & medicare & "affordable care " & maybe even social security will be dependent on getting your shots too. Hey maybe we can all hire a 12 year old to hack our phones & medical records to show we are compliant?

I too am an ex-pat who has not lived in the usa for many years. Over these years I observed how other human beings around the world cultivated their individual and collective attitudes about personal sovereignty, authority, liberty, family and relationship.

I can forthrightly and positively say that what the usa stood for in days of old was completely unprecedented, by FAR. New breakthroughs of bold ideas of liberty and personal sovereignty were immediately put into direct practice in the new colonies. From the perspective of an alien being watching our species on this planet grow up, this was a huge leap forward. The observing aliens were nodding their heads in excitement as they waited to see what might come next.

You all know what happened after that; no need to explain.

The odd thing is that the same ideas of liberty are set strongly in the minds of many, many more people now than they were even back then... what is lacking is the simple courage to act. That massive strength of character that our ancestors possessed is gone... or at least temporarily shut down.

This article is NOT an april fools joke. It is an American Fools Warning.

This is a heads-up preparation article.

You know how the tptb tip their plans shortly before they act? Well, WHEN this actually happens (10y max, 5-6y likely), all usa citizens step up, loudly refuse and once-and-for-all kick-start the re-revolution..... Or else just stfu, get in line and start salivating for the lollipop you'll get after your shot.

For those of you who were frightened or otherwise razzled by this article before you found out it was a 'spoof,' what exactly was your next thought, your next feeling? Was it to deeply sigh in relief, or was it to get sharply angry, and use that emotion to dig deeper into your mind about what is truly important in your life... in the lives of your children?

Cultivate that anger. Focus those deeper insights. Look around and decide what is truly worth keeping; forget the rest.

I would like to know what it is you do to prevent this from happening? Many of us are doing the best we can to avoid and prevent losing our freedoms. It takes a lot in a busy life; a busy world; and fighting the powers that be. I am tired of coming to websites where it is obvious that the bulk of people visiting that website (such as Dr. Mercola's) are those that fight the system and takeover (food; air; water; health; etc.) yet there are never suggestions on what we, collectively as a society, can do. Yeah, it's a warning. Now what? We elect a president - then what? No, don't ever ever stfu. I don't take vacs; but I did when my 27 year old daughter was in school. Who knew? That is the case with many. I didn't have the internet; I trusted my government; I trusted my doctors. But now I know. So, there are many like that. It's time for answers; suggestions. What say you?

What To Do:

1. Educate yourself. For most people here, Done.

2. Taking stock.

2a. Literally sit down with pencil and paper. Write out what you typically do every minute of your waking day. Now strip out all time wasters.

2b. Look at the things remaining, and brutally ask yourself why you are doing the things you do that you do not want to do. Hate your job? Got ridiculous bills to pay? Feeling forced to maintain a lifestyle and relationships that suck? Got people clinging to you for support that do not deserve it, or you are clinging to someone else for the same reason? If you are ever going to break free of self-imposed traps and get true freedom and clarity in this lifetime, you have got to be brutal with your assessment of your life.

2c. As you start to see a bit more clearly, your actual destiny will come back into focus. You will renew that inner feeling of "Why I am here, and what am I here to do with my life." Nearly every adult I talk deeply with tells me that they feel off-track in their life. Core lifetime drives and desires have not come to pass. Their lives largely feel wasted. They realize that their self pep talk condoning the life they ARE living is bs.

3. Your mind.

Picture how you want to live. See that image. Imagine you are in the middle of that life. Notice how it feels, how it looks. Get it solid in your mind. Crystallize your consciousness. Keep laser focus on Your Life. Your values, your integrity, your future. Not of your family, not of any others. You can only control Your Life. Make the most of it. As you get Your act together internally, all others who you care about will profit greatly right along with you.

Getting your mind and your reality aligned will change everything. This is a spiritual process. You are FAR more powerful than you believe. Fear is what blocks you, and the most basic way fear does that is by confusion, misalignment and distraction.

Remove those and see what happens.

I'm curious how you're able to be an expat. Seems hard to do these days, and you obviously have been successful.

I agree - we need to cultivate our anger and dig deep to fight this. They want us to just roll over and play dead, we need to stand up and see justice being served. Joke or not, this article so hit the nail on the head, because after the Disneyland outbreak I said to myself..... this is potentially the beginning of the end. I wouldn't be surprised if the CDC laced something in the theme park in order to force the outbreak. I wouldn't put it past them at all. Scary times and we need to all come together before the internet becomes censored and more of our rights are taken away.

Bravo senior Roberto great POSTS bravo...Most folks today are running around stressed to the bone,like chickens without a head...My simple advise has always been for folks to take a step back and look at how they deal with attachments..We all have some form of attachment, we're attached to our jobs, attached to our family, our kids, money, attached to those special always needing relatives - the kind you just can't seem to get rid of, you know the ones from the the gimmie gimmie gang..

Once you learn how to deal with these attachments clarity begins, stress levels plummet and your B.S decoder goes back into a somewhat normal range... This acticle in my opinion is NOT an April fool's joke, it's been happening a while now...Keep your eye on the prize folks...

If you trace back any thread... be it the Cholesterol and Statin scam, approval of Aspartame, GMO's and Roundup to the power of the fossil fuel lobby, oil wars, etc etc on and on you will see that the one commonality is money.

Money begets greed and greed finds a way to get what it wants..... We are basically talking about the top 1% that can pull the system's strings and make sure their river of money keeps flowing and getting bigger.

Our political systems support this corruption because of the way we have structured them. The most successful candidates, politicians and public servants are the ones that are the cleverest, least ethical and most greedy.

Why ? Because there is a lot of filthy lucre and payolla in it, for any who don't mind a bit of personal corruption.

Knowing this, points out the most important way we can fight such things. We have to make our political and public service systems structurally different....

My suggestion is that a law, or laws be attached to the documents defining those political structures that make it absolutely clear that if a person wants to enter into public life, either as an elected official or a public servant.... their only source of income... or any good or service that has value.... must only be the proper salary attached to that position and nothing more. If they don't like this, and want to dabble in business ventures or private interests... then they cannot be public servants.

This will remove the filters that have selected our public servants from the pool of the most sly, greedy and least ethical among our population and reverse it so only those who most have the public good at heart will occupy those positions.

The penalties for transgressing this law should be very severe, commensurate as if the offender were a traitor.... because that is effectively what they are..... a traitor to the public trust in favour of their own interest.

We have created this situation by definition.

hollieg - I live in Ecuador. Cost of living here is probably half or less of ussa. Monthly expenses: Food for 2 adults, 5 dogs, 4 donkeys is about US$350 (Less as we grow more of our own over time); Gasoline $1.50/gal. No heating or air conditioning needed, ever. Water $2.50. Electricity $10. And so on. Some things more expensive, other things not so easily available, not a big deal.

The rural location I am in, 1600m elevation, air is excellent, water is pure from high above, a lot of organic food available, almost never see geoengineering trails (4 so far in 3 years), city culture and supplies available about 40 min away. My Spanish is still poor, but constantly improves. Overall, pretty darn good.

Anyone can do it. Easily. Only limitation holding you back is your mind. Plenty of expat autobiographies from all over the world on the net that tell you what it is like.

like the shrill sound of the alarm clock to wake you out of your slumber, dr mercola, as a modern day brilliant seer and prophet who can see the writing on the wall, and is fulfilling his part by informing people of what is going on. today, has just put everyone on notice... those who claim to be offended or suffer from anxiety, hide behind these disorders so they can continue to live in fear and not take action to avoid something like this from happening.

u r uncomfortable and felt bad after reading this? how much worse will it be when this actually happens if you 'all dont get off your duffs and do something now. responsibility generation after generation has been abdicated by the people of this republic, and so we stand at a crossroads today of dystopia or utopia.

i have provided the means, which most of you claim you are interested in, to take legal and lawful action against this criminal group of people who have usurped our beautiful world. how many are willing to actually take action instead of blaming and complaining, while doing nothing? your silence is your acquiescence. all it takes for evil to exist is for the people to do nothing. this sums up the pathetic history of the human species, who claim to be superior, but in reality are not. this is the opportunity to evolve, and these situations will continue to present themselves as long as humans choose ignorance complacency and fear.

humans have so much potential, for good as well as harm, its up to each of us to decide today where we stand and what we choose as we continue walking whichever road we have chosen.

the gauntlet has been thrown, now who do you choose to serve? as the brilliant band rush sings in their song free will

Where would the fun be? It is supposed to be joke!

However I really do sympathize. I don't live in the US but we have a little grandchild due there at the end of April and the thought of her getting a Hep B jab within the first hours of her life is horrific. In Suzanne Humphries' talk on youtube about infantile immunity, she explains brilliantly why vaccines can only do harm. One's heart sinks particularly when she talks about the US government's plans to mandate vaccination. I had most of the usual children's diseases - we children all had them at the same time, mumps, measles, whooping cough etc etc. and, as a bonus, life long immunity. None of us suffered any sequele, at least in our circle of acquaintances. My own children were vaccinated back in the 70s because at that time there didn't appear to be any problems - but they must have had partial immunity from my husband and me, which is no longer a mitigating factor in the third generation. At least they were privileged enough to be able to catch chickenpox and German measles which put an end to the succession of ear-aches, sore throats etc which I now believe could have been caused by the vaccines. Both children had chicken-pox at the same time - both leaped ahead healthwise as a result, and in comparison to her elder brother, my daughter suffered far less from infections as a toddler.

I took the article seriously . When I realized that it was a spoof, I did laugh at myself, with relief, but the afterthought was that it is possibly a bit too near the truth to be really funny. Thank you for the warning and I hope more and more people will be on their guard.

Best wishes.

Yeah, I was thinking "Did she really say that?" and "You've GOT to be kidding...seriously?" until the "BS Rolling Out in April", then I realized it was farcical. After that I laughed at some of the more outrageous parts, but overall it was very sobering that it wasn't THAT far off the mark. But I'm still not sure if it's actually part of a larger plan to depopulate the planet like the Illuminati conspiricists believe, or if it's actually just human arrogance, egotism and greed. Either way it's a sad statement on humanity as a whole.

Scary, even if an April's Fool issue. I got a few lines down before realizing the spoof, but the sad thing is that with the increasingly fascist tendencies of the US society these days, who knows where it will go?

Yes, it's so close to the mark, that it is quite possible one day.

With most of the Western world moving rapidly towards totalitarian forms of government, the removal of freedom of choice has already started. We are constantly under surveillance, and controlled by the propaganda machines of government and large corporations - neither of which want us to know important facts, or 'think' for ourselves. So it doesn't stretch the imagination too far to imagine this scenario coming true one day in the near future.

Bigfletch

It is going to happen unless "we the people" stop it. This plan has been rolling out for decades. I first became aware of it after reading Stan Deyo's Cosmic Conspiracy in 70's, and that was well before the satellite surveillance infrastructure came about..the same system that facilitates driverless cars. The nano tech also is now fully operational, and the willingness for people to give up freedoms has never been so prolific since 9/11.

There is a very good tv series called Person Of Interest,which covers this process extremely accurately. Always been a way of introducing new ways into the mainstream.

I also got a few lines down before I started thinking this HAS to be a spoof - then I realized it was April Fool's Day. Whew!!! My first clue was the paragraph about American's having more time to eat and watch tv if someone else saved them the time from researching the vaccine issues (I thought WHAT..????), and then seeing the "BS" Alert system, I realized this was all BS! Yes, this is scary, even if it is simply an April Fool's thing. It sure got me going at the beginning! I'm sorry that so many commenters got upset and can't seem to let that go after realizing it's a joke. IMO, we all need to be aware of our freedom of choice that have been taken from us (and continue to be), BUT we also have to hold onto a sense of humor in our day to day lives - at least that's my plan. I have to agree with another poster who said this fostered good conversation between her and her husband before they realized it was a spoof, a conversation that wouldn't have happened if they realized up front that it was an April Fools joke. This is one article that I, too, will pass around today. Thanks!!!

@mirandola - your comments to my reply are appreciated and taken in the context for which you intended. Please know that I am not in denial, and the humor I found in this article is STRICTLY in the sense of it being April Fools day today. I personally find the state of our nation to be most concerning these days and it scares the ever loving bejeebes out of me. However, I refuse to live in fear, and a sense of humor can help in that area. In no way do I allow laughter to block out the truth of what is happening to us and all around us. IMO, this country, and the world itself, has become a very scary place. Thanks again for your comments.

"We need to ensure vaccine use compliance from cradle to grave, as we know the science is clear that reactions to pharmaceutical products are very, very, very rare and it is impossible in any case to prove that prescription drugs and vaccines cause any harm at all."

If no harm is done by Pharmaceuticals, including vaccines, then why are there warnings on every single drug, including over the counter drugs? The health officials stating this are liars. At least 5% of the population cannot use Pharmaceuticals because of some sort of reaction. I myself contracted Polio from the oral vaccine, over 50 years ago and I have paid the price with lifelong auto immune problems, living with Hashimotos, now. I have had serious reactions to almost every Pharmaceutical I have come in contact with; contact being the key word here. I don't even have to ingest the drug; handling it or being in constant contact with someone, in the household, can cause a reaction. This is very serious for those of us who must look to food as our medicine and decline Pharmaceuticals. Case in point, I have had serious environmental allergies, in the past, and am unable to take antihistamines because of allergic reactions. This law is not only an infringement on everyone's rights, but dangerous to those who must refuse, in order to safeguard our lives.

Even though this article is an April Fool's joke, what I have said, still stands, as certain things have already been set in motion and are closer than we realize.

This is nothing to worry about.

All you have to do to get your body to emit the proper government-authorized frequency that shows that you are indeed vaccinated according to the law is to eat a diet consisting mostly of certified GMO foodI know for sure that vaccines and GMOs have the same vibratory-frequency -signatures imbedded in them , so everyone can just relax about this new law.

Alternate hint for silly persons who feel they must eat organically:

When you are stopped by the Department of Mandatory Vaccination's (DMV) Random Enforcement Squad and need to prove compliance immediately, always be sure you are carrying a big plastic bottle of pure High Fructose Corn Syrup and guzzle it down really quick (works every time !)

Scary! But unfortunately, as a California citizen I am seeing the stripping of my freedoms as a parent with regard to vaccines right now. THIS IS NO APRIL FOOLS JOKE. . Look up bill SB277 (Pan). This bill completely eliminates the personal beliefs exemption to required vaccinations for school attendance. This is the only exemption that most people qualify for. The bill would apply to ALL pupils regardless of whether they are in public school, private or homeschool.

The hearing is set for Wednesday, April 8th, 1:30 PM, in the California State Senate Health Committee (Room 4203).

PLEASE call or write the Senator representing your district in California and oppose this bill as a concerned citizen or parent. This affects all of us, but especially our kids. If this bill passes, I and every other Californian will be forced to vaccinate our kids with EVERYTHING the state mandates.

here is an example of how to hold our public servants accountable so the above does not happen.

As an elected official, you have sworn an oath to uphold the Constitution of and for the united States of America, which is the Supreme Law of the Land. Pursuant to Marbury v. Madison, (1803), all laws repugnant to the Constitution are null and void.

This is a serious offense and you have perjured your oath and have committed treason against the people and the Republic of the united States of America.

It is my duty as an American citizen, with unlimited, unalienable rights secured to me in both the national and state Constitutions, to put individuals such as you, who have taken a sworn oath to uphold the state of - Constitution and the Constitution for and of the united States of America, on legal and lawful notice.

Amendment V of the Constitution of the united States of America provides: "No person shall---be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. A similar provision exists in all the state constitutions; the phrases "due course of law", and the "law of the land" are sometimes used; but all three of these phrases have the same meaning and that applies conformity with the ancient and customary laws of the English people or laws indicated by parliament; Davidson V. New Orleans 96 U.S. 97, 24, L Ed 616.

Anytime public servants violate Rights guaranteed to Citizens in the Constitutions, they act outside the scope of their limited delegated duties and authority, thus, by their own actions, invoke the self-executing Sections 3 and 4 of the 14th Amendment; thereby vacate their offices and forfeit all benefits thereof, including salaries and pensions, as you did. You are accountable and liable to the People for your unconstitutional actions and failures, and the People have the authority to hold you fully responsible and liable for your unlawful actions, which I fully intend to do.

If this is real what are you going to do to tourists.

No one should sign the Transpacific partnership with an Orwellian nation like yours, if this is what you want to do.

Is this a tactic to incite unrest so you have an excuse for martial law.

We should stop using your dollar as the world currency and you can slide into the economic debt abyss you have created for yourself.

Now wonder Russian and China want an alternative to the SWIFT banking transfer system.

USA and EU help neo-nazi's take over the Ukraine with the EU, and want a puppet regime to place military forces next to Russia. Look how upset the USA got over missiles in Cuba, they hypocritically want to do the same to Russia, but be even closer.

Are Americans insane to vote in either major party who allow this denial of human rights to occur in this forced vaccination program. The FDA is so corrupt.

This is not funny.

Posted On 03/31/2015

TheMadMonk

no, it's NOT funny and yes....with a large enough scale false flag event and enough propaganda, americans ARE crazy enough to support such a measure.

Posted On 04/01/2015

Thinking Americans don't want the Transpacific partnership either, but we're in the minority, our government has the majority convinced that it's a good thing.

The USD will be replaced as the worlds' reserve currency by the RMB (yuan) as soon as China has completed trade agreements with the other Asian and Pacific Island nations to use their own currencies for trade. I predict that will happen in the next 3 to 12 years, and in the ensuing economic collapse martial law will be declared.

However, you are not correct about the USA and the EU taking over Ukraine; the secession of Crimea and Sevastopol and their subsequent admittance to the Russian Federation, as well as the unrest in the Lugansk and Donetsk regions, combined with the democracy-building efforts financially supported by many US and EU organizations, both governmental and nongovernmental, is ample evidence of the Western nations striving to help Ukraine maintain it's independence from Russia. Additionally, the US and our European allies have plenty of military forces close to Russia, and with the range of modern missiles we don't need to be any closer, so your analogy of the Cuban missile crisis is not applicable and, frankly, rather ridiculous.

Yes, the FDA is corrupt, but every government has corrupt people in it. That is a problem all good people everywhere try to overcome. As for the voting--every government has it's problems, politicians are the same everywhere. Their goal is subjugation and control of the population for their own benefit. The real shame is that a country which started out with such high ideals has also been corrupted by self-serving parties, and the liberties and freedoms we fought so hard to attain have been taken away in the purported interest of security. Our founding fathers worried this might come to pass and tried everything they could to ensure it didn't, but sadly human greed overpowered their good intentions.

Obviously you didn't realize that the whole thing was made up, so it is no wonder you are upset. The Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) is in direct competition with the world bank. England and other EU countries have joined. Another fiasco for the blamer.

The petro-dollar is on it's way out. Russia, China, India and other countries have agreed, and are now accepting each other's currency or other means of exchanges, not the dollar.

I remember my father talking about the UK when the pound sterling lost it's world-reserve status and prices skyrocketed. I was too young to understand then.

Mirandola,

You said, "What is needed to safeguard our elections, is a) hand-counted paper ballots...."

Just recently there were hand counted paper ballots in Oregon relating to Measure 92, label GMOs.

4,600 of the paper ballots were not counted because of issues with the signatures. A court challenge did not change the decision to not count the ballots. The Measure lost by 837 votes or 0.06% well done, almost got me. :). As an Aussie, the give away was the BioSafety (BS) reference as BS means 'lie alert' to me. I liked the idea that it isn't necessary for people to have to make decisions on their health as they are untrained. I deal with people who think like that all the time.

A 2014 poll by Consumers Report showed 92% in the nation want GMOs labeled.

I think the article is a predictor of the future if the vaccination lobby are allowed to continue unchallenged.

Same here - also an Aussie. I was horrified till it got to the BS bit - then scrolled to the bottom and was very relieved, because I was thinking if this is happening in the US, it's only a matter of time before they bring it in over here. They're already doing all they can to coerce or frighten people into vaccinating.

Also the pro-vaccine  forced the cancellation of Dr Sherri Tenpenny's seminar tour, which was to have taken place in Australia this month, by threatening owners of the venues. Nice lot! Whatever happened to free speech and informed choice? But I think it may have backfired to some degree, because apparently Dr Tenpenny had a lot more hits on her website as this was happening - so hopefully more people have been made aware.

The possibility of something like this actually occurring is not too far fetched when you key in on the chatter about enacting mandatory vaccination. Americans need to pay more attention to maintaining our constitutional rights, especially freedom of choice. Jordan Maxwell has warned us that we better ease up on the sports and entertainment news and get locked into the real news, which is our freedoms are under attack. Thank you Dr. Mercola for the April fool's wake up call because we would certainly be fools to permit something like this to happen.

Okay, we get it! The scariest part is that the article seemed plausible at first. My question is, why aren't the anti-vaccine experts singing to more than the choir? Maybe we need lobbyists, funding to put at least one anti-vaccine candidate in Congress.

Mercola readers are some of the few getting this message. It's not enough. We're going to need help with this one. Some one high up and very vocal is what we need.

We MUST totally stop the present regime, one of the most progressive groups in our nation. Now is our only chance to put the brakes on the Obummer regimes insane destruction of our lives and our nation.

WE the PEOPLE -- MUST-- strike back at liberalism with ANY LEGAL means possible.

DONT wait for "someone else" to do it or will never happen.

YOUR FUTURE now depends on your involvement All politics is local. The people who plot against you are scared of you.

The ONLY way to control comrade Obuma is to control the propagnda medias agenda.

Without the lying, butt covering, marxist media Obumma is NOTHING. The corrupt regime cannot withstand a frontal assault.

We the people MUST change the status quo. NO longer can WE tolerate the lies and propaganda.

Do YOUR part! SPEAK OUT! BEFORE that becomes ILLEGAL under Obuma doctrine. Remember, ALL politics IS LOCAL, each of us can matter. Dont forget to do a frontal assault on the SCOTUS, make them see.

comrade Obuma is the parrot head of the trilateral led totalitarian regime that is enslaving the nation.

The ONLY way America will gain back its independence is when we do a slash and burn campaign against the communist progressive news media and destroy it once and for all time.

When the thugs and ghouls in the whitehouse and the DOJ abolish the 2nd amendment , YOU will lose YOUR freedoms, your right to self defense and will become a slave to comrade Obuma and his corrupt thug regime. Think about it, think about it, think about it. Not ONLY will gun owners lose thier rights, YOU will lose YOURS also. Just to remind you that the regime of comrade Obummer is out to destroy our nation. He totally and viciously hates us and anyone that opposes his radical Marxist ideology. NO gun, NO freedom !

In a word "Yes". Overpopulation and their feeble attempt at bringing it down to a manageable size. Twice now, FireFox has become unresponsive while the comments were being loaded. I had to use the Task Manager to close FF, as none of the other 5 tabs I had open would work, either. Everything looked "fogged out." Is this happening to other people?

I read the article, feeling more and more horrified, while at the same time reassuring myself with the thought that, if this were true, we would surely have heard about it before. Then I began to think "What the...?" when reading M. Aucun Choix's comment about being happier if all stress of making decisions were removed. (The name translates as "No Choice," but I didn't notice that until after seeing that this is Mercola's annual spoof.)

The article gets crazier and crazier. I especially liked the heading "BS Alert Rolling Out in April." That was a big clue, lol. Haven't finished reading it all yet, as I was eager to get to the comments, but have to say that it was horrifying and entertaining at the same time. Well done, Dr. Mercola!

Now to try once more and see if, when (hopefully) this gets posted, I can see other people's posts. If not, that in itself will make me suspicious. Well. MAYbe the failure to load is simply due to the great number of comments... It DID just happen again, so now I will try I.E.

Very disappointed that such a serious subject would be treated so flippantly regardless of the occasion. We are being made fools of daily by our governments and big corporations. A day off from the lies and some real truth is what I hope for when I come to this site.

Good health and increased awareness to all !!!!

I don't believe sh!t on April Fool d!ck. Feed the fear and then Tap It Out???? Nice. I think I just saw some kids looking for candy from strangers, I'll send them your way.

Did you know George Norry works a live show broadcast on Christmas every year, just so that his listener won't feel ALONE? Because people "out there" are hurting. Make jokes in your office with people who can SEE YOUR FACE.

I think your April Fools's jokes are a mistake when people look to you FOR HEALING. HELLO!

The moment there is suspicion about a person's motives, everything he does becomes tainted. - Gandhi

Unless you'd rather people didn't look to you for healing? It's a BIG responsibility, taken FAR TOO lightly.

If you need a day off from serious "work", go "LIE" in the sun in Florida...

Or make some Big John back of the toilet joke books.

I am regurgitating my comment from the other day and I apologize to those who have already read it, but I am going to continue to bang this drum until every person gets it.

The biggest mistake we can continue to make as a country is being against the other party. There is no political divide. These hucksters all work together. They only want us to believe there is a difference between the 2 parties so that while we, the sheeple, continue to bicker amongst ourselves over which party is more superior, they can continue to rob us of our liberties and constitutional rights.

If there is anything we the people need to wrap our heads around it is this: They all work for the same evil entities. Big Pharma, giant corporations, huge insurance companies, whatever. As long as it lines their pockets they'll be, do and say anything needed to the public.

The other day I listened quietly as 2 friends -each of a different political party- bickered about how the other party is to blame for our country's ills. Tired of hearing it, I finally chimed in that there are no parties; its all a facade. Of course this elicited lots of "no ways" and "nuh-uhs" but I gave them a homework assignment and that was to go home and research the list of the executive orders that with one flip of the "martial law switch" would quickly eradicate any and all of our constitutional rights that have been signed by presidents of both parties. Both these friends were stunned when I spoke to them a few days later. It had never occurred to them that politicians work together as one big group and not in the darling 2 parties we all been brainwashed to believe to be true.

So while we all spew out how disgusting liberals are, or how nauseating repubs are, the powers-that-be sit and laugh their asses off at our stupidity and strip away more of our rights, plunder through our hard-earned taxes and secretly support the prez when he signs yet another EO that the public would never agree to.

Knowing it was an April Fool's joke -- there is one thing I still don't get. Why would a vaccinated person be in danger from an unvaccinated person? Being vaccinated means you are IMMUNE so why does it make any difference to you whatsoever whether those around you have chosen to be immunized or not, since you can't catch it from them. How did this absolutely insane concept get out there, that the vaccinated can catch the disease from the unvaccinated? Because if they are vaccinated they CAN'T CATCH IT. The obvious conclusion is, they are not vaccinated; they got a shot, not a vaccine.

This is why I call the CDC and the FDA the incestuous whs of the Pharmaceutical Companies and Monsanto....I call the CDC the Centers for Disease Creation...The D stands for Denial, Deception and Disinformation!

This goes against the Nuremberg Code which states that no medical procedure can be forced on any person without informed consent...It is akin to what the  did during WWII and why the Code was adopted.

All vaccines are EXPERIMENTAL and there has never been a BLIND study done on any vaccines (vaccinated VS non-vaccinated).

The National Vaccine Injury Compensation Fund has paid out nearly 3 BILLION dollars in vaccine damages for death and injuries by vaccines...and this is only 10% of the actual injuries reported.

While the CDC and the FDA are saying that vaccines are both safe and effective...neither is true!

Posted On 04/02/2015

The insanity of enforced vaccinations comes down to the simple facts that if they were effective then why would anyone who's been vaccinated be afraid of anyone who is not? And add that to the fact that they have not been proven safe, on the contrary, the mercury and other gross toxins in them are worse than the disease in most cases and this all points to a criminal drug-pushing industry perpetrating their greed for profit and power by ripping-off people's rights and their health.

What I don't understand is why people seem to taste blood in the water and go on the attack with name calling. Yeah, I was all with this until I saw "Anti-Choicers United Campaign," and then my reality alarms went off. If it was labeled anything at all, it would be something like 'American Health Freedom Act' or something, the opposite of the truth. (actually, that sounds familiar, that might already exist). I forgot that there was anything unusual about April 1.

But up until that moment, I was going into 'resignation mode,' the feeling I get when government does something really, really stupid that I have absolutely no control over. I was already thinking ahead to how this program was going to affect me, wondering if the doctor would want to get me vaccinated on the appointment that I have to see her at the end of April, and I was thinking about moving to Canada (assuming Canada doesn't do anything similar). The only question I had was, how much time do I have to prepare to relocate before they enforce this law. The enforcement of it might be really slow and full of setbacks, like Obamacare.

The irony of a cytomegalovirus vaccine is, live cytomegalovirus from African green monkeys is one of the viruses that accidentally contaminates other vaccines that it isn't meant to be in, according to Dr. John Martin (Center for Complex Infectious Diseases, ccid.org - it's on google), and so you actually catch the virus by getting vaccinated. He had a theory that some kind of 'stealth virus' was causing symptoms of chronic fatigue and other illnesses, which is how I ended up finding that website years ago.

To make this whole thing work, the government would have to put a lot of propaganda on television, on ads, and in TV shows and movies, to train people to become 'tattletale neighbors,' who are one part of the enforcement branch of government. And they would have to use some kind of monopoly system to actually perform the vaccinations, like, say, you'd get vaccinated at the same DMV office where you got your driver's license, something nobody could avoid.

Good one. Had me for a minute. I wonder how many parents would roll up for regular vaccination shots, particularly those that are all too ready to take their children along for the all, too many vaccines on the schedule these days? Children don't have a say in the matter. The decision is made by adults. Would the same adults be prepared to lose choice?

I just now saw your reply to my comment and since you would not get a notification if I reply there to you I am replying here, to you. There is plenty of evidence Kennedy, Jr is NOT controlled opposition and if you knew his record like I do you would know that! As I wrote in my OP he has literally fought against corp corruption for MANY years and helped win many cases. Someone that goes up against corruption like that for that many years and exposes what he is is not controlled by anyone. I am no fan of Dr. Shiva or anyone else that takes words out of context or edited clips to criticize someone or to make it look like they did or said something they didn't. What I have heard him say about Kennedy, Jr he has NO proof of! The way he talks he's a divider just like Trump is.

Thanks for replying Country_Me. I do hope you're right and appreciate your assurances. I know I've read and seen a lot of videos of Kennedy Jr and they all showed him fighting for truth especially with vaccines etc. I've also read some negatives that lead to my concerns. Not knowing what to believe these days I do tend to sit on the fence about most of it until real proof appears. Appreciate your input on Dr. Shiva also. Whatever happens, I don't expect anything to get better, sadly.

Country_Me

Keep in mind that years ago when Kennedy, Jr was more pro vaccines is BEFORE a group of mothers kept trying to get him to read their information. One mother showed up to his door step and told him she would not leave UNTIL HE READ all the information she had and he did just that read it all and saw the evidence regarding vaccines not being as safe as they claim so that is when he changed after seeing evidence not to anti vaccines but to better testing AND everyone having choice. Anti mandates! Some other people are like that having a belief about something until they see evidence why they are wrong so some people that think he is pro vaccines which he was BEFORE seeing all the evidence. He took a lot of ridicule for changing his position on that And when you hear people talk about a party he and his wife had that required people to be vaccinated.

The entire context is they did not ask proof from anyone that went to their party! "He also said no effort was made to check if guests had been vaccinated or recently tested." I have done a lot of research making sure I find the entire context of what he says and not the edited videos that make it look like he said something he didn't. I am not saying he's perfect or that I agree with him on everything. No one is perfect and I don't agree with anyone on everything but he is a lot more perfect than the others and comes closest to my views than the others.

I'm not convinced that anything other than improved sanitation is the primary factor in contagious disease contraction and transmission. Via our recent pandemic experience, I have learned of so much data obfuscation, lying, corruption, media capture and entire health system capture that it is currently impossible to know if any vaccine has a positive risk / reward ratio. Until honest and unbiased studies can be conducted, the best survival and quality of life practice is to avoid injections. Corporate capture and control of our health care is health care's greatest threat. The AMA is a totally captured union.

Speaking of inversion, for my protection I would want to be advised if any vaxxed people were within 500 feet of me so as not to be affected by their spike protein shedding caused by their vaxx and or repeated infections from the multiple infections they were vaxxed against! After the Covid vaxxes were rolled out my vaxxed in-laws called us to cancel their yearly Christmas gathering, only to find out later on a social media post that they still had their gathering. At first I was hurt and upset but later realized they may have actually done us a favor in not subjecting us to their shedding. As a postscript to this story, 3 of them subsequently have passed, one with unexplained multiple organ failure.

Although this article is a spoof, it is not too far off the track, and I will tell you why I believe this. This concerns animal vaccinations. I have several cats, all of whom I have had for years, and who were rescued, fixed, and are maintained well. Occasionally I have to take one to the vet, and they often, not always, require the cat to be vaccinated against rabies and often other diseases before they will see my cat. I have no choice. Now, for the first time, this past few months I have received cards in the mail from our county's animal control services that I have failed to get this or that cat re-vaccinated as required by law. They are tracking me now, and even though I have confined cats, this makes no difference. This last card I received a couple of days ago demands that I get the cat(s) re-vaccinated and report this, with proof, to the county, and if I fail to do so, (as this is their third warning), they will "dispatch" a animal control officer to my home. I have never had an animal with any rabies issues, ever. And according to statistics, only 270 cats in the U.S. have contracted rabies, in the last year monitored, which was 2001. Wouldn't you think that if it were such an issue, that they would be monitoring rabies in cats? Animals with rabies die, limiting the spread of it. A local vet is fighting this mandate, as it is simply a money-grabbing venture on the part of four veterinarians who got this pushed through our county for approval. So now, I have to wait for an animal control officer to come banging on my door, and what am I to tell him? Do I lie and say I no longer have the cat? Do I cave in and take my healthy cat in to get a forced vaccination? Or do I tell him to go eat rocks? When I get fined for not obeying, do I pay the penalties? See where this is going? I am also now mandated to receive a flu vaccine every year, or I will be fired from my job in the health care industry. I never thought I would see the day where we are like cattle.

I guess it goes without saying...I was fooled! Sadly, I thought it was believable because it was a Dr. Mercola article. I have a very high sense of responsibility for staying healthy, which then affects those around me not be exposed to any dis-ease from me. To trade this, the best choice I can make, for imposed ill health due to injected toxins, is an unspeakable travesty. I'm glad I have a healthy heart, because I can imagine a weak one failing for fear of the things coming upon the earth. I failed to find the humor in the April 1 joke. IF gov't made laws requiring all adults get total vaccine packages, millions would be in trouble. Baby Boomers were largely NOT vaccinated, because most had most childhood ills, AND we're not all dead or compromised, either!!!!!!

Doctors don't test for existing on-board immunity...WHY? Some used to--usually for pregnant moms to make sure they kept clear of infected people until after baby's birth, as they didn't want to compromise the fetus by giving vaccines while pregnant....HMmmm...so vaccines are so safe now, they are ok for pregnant moms?

Docs don't test for immune-compromised people, either...WHY? We recognize certain conditions as immune-compromised states, but, some are given more credence than others--WHY?? In one practice, most of our allergy patients [allergies being an immune-compromised condition] had bad reactions to, or poor response to, flu vaccines---WHY??? The info on vaccines: don't those still state that immune-compromised people should NOT get vaccines? WHY are those strong-armed to get them??

IF general populations were tested to learn how immune-compromised they all are, it would likely be a blinding realization that most people have SOME level of that, and therefore, should NOT get vaccines ...as we know them today. Could this be a vastly under-used loophole for people to avoid the dangerous vaccines perpetrated these days?

Non-vaccinated people might get sick, but vaccinated people should be protected, IF vaccines are doing their jobs. But vaccines AREN'T. FULLY VACCINATED PEOPLE GET THE ILLS THEY'VE BEEN VACCINATED AGAINST...WHY?? WHY are we being strong-armed to do vaccines, when, over the last 30 years, they've been working increasingly poorly, to the point officials are now recommending periodic vaccinations throughout a person's lifetime? WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE WAY THINGS ARE BEING DONE, THAT'S CAUSING SUCH RATES OF FAILURE...NEVER MIND ADVERSE REACTIONS!??

what a great gift dr mercola has given us, the ability to observe our own reactions to anything. some have chosen to remain powerless and fearful by blaming others for how they choose to feel. others can learn from their feelings and empower themselves and then this will lead to positive actions and change and growth within them.

when u get angry at dr mercola for "making you feel a certain way" you are stating a lie and something we are unfortunately taught in this very unbalanced society. people who are brave still may feel fear, but they never allow it to control them or take away their power. they act despite their fear, and that is what makes them so inspiring.

hasnt anyone ever read the onion? or people like mark twain and the great writers of the past who used the absurdities around them to teach and seek to empower people?

we can rise out of the victimhood that is rampant in this world, and choose to be powerful masteful conscious beings who leave the world better than before they came here.

here is a secret i will share with you, that if you choose to practice it and embrace it, will change your life a hundred fold. NO ONE CAN MAKE YOU FEEL ANYTHING. IT IS ALWAYS YOUR CHOICE.

blame is a trap that leaves with no where to go but down. taking responsibility and saying i decide gives you options and opens up possibilities you didn't previously see because u were too depressed and full of self pity to see them.

the difference between a master and slave is response ability. how able are you to respond instead of unconsciously react?

the root of anxiety and other issues is fear and the belief that everything is beyond your control. this is extremely harmful and damaging and why america has become a shadow of the great nation she could be. this belief is a childs belief, due to being smaller and helpless, but as we shed our baby clothes and wear adult clothes, so too must we shed our old beliefs that do not serve us and we have outgrown. .

While I love a good gag, perhaps mercola.com should refrain from health misinformation, even if lighthearted, as there's far too much to be had already. You're a ray of light on this darkening topic Dr. M. Hopefully most people read the entire article as I did and avoid acting on it. That would discredit them and mercola.com.

Dear Dr. Mercola.....I was literally in tears. What country would I move to, I would never see my children, grandchildren or great grands again. What was I going to do. Leave or stay and face the consequences. I was so relieved when I read it was an April fool joke. I've been reading you for years but never expected this to happen so soon and so happy it's not happening yet. I'm definitely signing up for everything that will keep this from happening. Thank you for all you do.....Gail Didn't fool me. Vaxes are not mandatory for children either. They are mandatory (exemptions aside) to attend public school. Even without exemptions, there are alternative education options. So when I read about vaccinations being mandatory for adults, I was looking for the context - employees of what fields. It was clear within the first paragraph it was a joke. ;)

When I read the BS-1 alert section I thought, "This is BULL-!" and thank God it is, for now. Sadly, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Big Pharma forced it's buddies in the government to try to implement mandatory vaccination at any point. As you said, investors would be rushing... Good job shaking me and apparently, many others, up. Now for my morning cup of lemon ginger tea and a healthy shake! Many Blessings and thank you for your articles, even if they do cause my adrenaline levels to increase!

Dr. Mercola will never again be able to recycle this great April Fools joke. It will soon become a reality. They have already passed mandatory vaccine legislation in New York. They can even remove you from your home and send you to a facility without having proof that you're sick. The NY legislature fought this for years, but Horrible Governor Hochul was relentless and finally pushed it forward. So we have no choice but to leave. Even in the relatively free state of Florida, there is a little-known clause in the law about mandatory vaccines, so I'm assuming it may be law in other states, though citizens are unaware of it. We're not young so we prefer not to move to states with extreme weather. We thought of leaving the US, but things are as bad or worse everywhere. I'm sure many share my concerns.

I did a search, here is what is on HHS website, only up to 2020. There is no later update. So this so-called "Adult Immunization Plans" is already ended. Plus, over 13 million illegals entered the U.S. in the last 3 years, NONE of them even got forced for Covid Jab, how could the Federal gov. Mandate any other vax to the whole 350 millions of population? That is just impossible. And now no one has mentions Covid-19 any more, it is even more impossible to mandate any vax at all. "The National Adult Immunization Plan (NAIP) provides an overview of actions needed to be undertaken by federal and nonfederal partners to protect public health and achieve optimal prevention of infectious diseases and their consequences through vaccination of adults. The plan establishes four key goals, each of which is supported by objectives and strategies to guide implementation through 2020." www.hhs.gov/vaccines/national-adult-immunization-plan/index.html

It is both sad and alarming how some people on one political side only sees what threatens our freedoms on the other political side when one way or the other it's on BOTH political sides. The only one running for president that has literally taken on corp corruption for many years is Robert Kennedy, Jr. so while he's not perfect and I don't agree with him on everything, it's that record that has earned my vote and that gets my trust that he is against the WEF, CBDCs mandates, and for freedom of speech.

Yes, well, this has actually happened here, in Australia! The Prime Minister, Tony Abbott, States, anyone who does not immunise their child, will forfeit child welfare benefits! He assumes that it is only people on welfare, who don't immunise/vaccinate their children!

There is now, a huge swell of mothers, who spew hatred at the parents who don't Immunise! They think we are selfish, and uninformed, and that we get our information from Google.

Nat

This is not as funny as it may seem and certainly takes on new meaning in Australia. The Federal Government in this country has announced today that, as of the 1st of January 2016, parents of non vaccinated children will no longer be eligible for government childcare payments and family tax benefits. The government will effectively wipe out the conscientious objectors' rights to collect any family related payments or tax benefits. The same old chestnut has been brought out; Parents of immunized children should not have to fear that their children will contract a potentially life threatening disease from the child of a conscientious objector. Do these people realise how silly this statement is? If these people have the faith they claim in the vaccine program, what do they have to fear from a child that has not been immunized? By their own line of thinking, it is the children that have not been vaccinated that should be at risk. Another politician said that it is a free country but people who don't obey the rules should be penalised. Another brilliant mind at work. These are supposedly intelligent people that are running our country. If these people are so confident of the vaccination program, they should be prepared to offer a guarantee that an immunized child will not contract the disease for which they have been vaccinated and that there will be no adverse affects.

I live in Sydney, and I am horrified at these measures.

What you say is so true! If they believe in their immunisations and vaccines; then what have they got to be afraid of!

There is an awful lot of fear mongering going on right now; I was bombarded on Face Book, with nasty comments! It reminded me, just how easy it is to bring about another holocaust, or racial hatred riots! This is how it starts, hating people for their different beliefs! Calling the anti immunisation group of people, selfish, and uncaring about other children; they say things like, make it mandatory, and they don't want your in- immunised kids in school with their kids etc.

so now, the people who are on welfare, will lose thousands of dollars! Because we don't put a price on our children's health. Then, they may decide that all adults have to be immunised and can't go in to work, and their kids can't go to school etc etc We will have uneducated kids, and homeless people who cannot work! and THEN! The crime rate will go up!

What annoys me so much, is that they will have a panel of so called experts on TV, telling us how dangerous it is not to immunise! But they never have a balanced view!! I would like to see a debate between Dr. Mercola, his team, and a team of conventional doctors broadcast on TV, I know who would win the debate, and the majority of mothers spewing hate; have not looked at both sides of the argument, they have not researched anything! They just believe what they are told; and if an unfortunate baby/child dies of, say, whooping cough, or Measles, they go into a frenzy, saying it's because of un-immunised children! They don't know anything about the child's condition before the illness, they don't know if it's their damn vaccine that compromised their immune system.

Interesting. A lot of people seem to scan or skim articles, and I'd bet money (if I had any) that a lot of people are now out Sounding the Alarm that the "government" has gone vaccine crazy again! It's a good idea though, writing something like this so that people can get an idea of what it WILL feel like when it's actually mandated for REAL, which it WILL be if Americans don't get on the stick and get moving FIGHTING this illegal, immoral and unethical program of POISONING the populace!

Regardless, this is no longer the "Land of the Free"! It's more like the "Land of the Fee, Home of the Slaves"! If not now, then in not too long at all this WILL be fact if we don't wake up and get moving!

Yes, there are plenty of disgruntled folks commenting here. They want to follow Dr Mercola's advice. Good one. I was just talking today about how to come up with a good April fools joke. Well you did it. I was half way down the page before it hit me. The reason I got that far before figuring it out, is it's all too sad and real. The American public are such willing victims, when it comes to harm and submission. They are putting their energies into buying into it and complying with it, rather than standing up. There are many stated truths in this article-the US constitution is about dead. They once fought for it and since then it has been trashed. The health dangers of vaccines are incredible. I do not worry about ebola or the flu, I worry about the vaccine that would harm or kill me.

Wow. Scary stuff. While reading, I too was thinking about which country me and my children were going to escape too. I have seen the vaccine devastation first hand as two of my daughter's friends have suffered immense and detrimental health consequences due to the HPV vaccine. I got sick every time I got the flu shot and was told "it's all in your head". The problem is, a lot of people are ignorant to the propaganda being fed through ad's from big pharmacy that bombard us daily. I noticed my friends liver shutting down by noticing her yellow eyes and asked her what she was taking. She stated "Excedrine for my bodyaches, advil for my headache, aspirin to prevent heart disease and Tylenol for my arthritis! Yikes! she took all these "safe " drugs daily and proceeded to tell me "I was not a doctor and knew nothing". Sadly, she is not a friend anymore, but her ignorance and attitude is one that would very much with no question back the vaccine program mentioned in this article. It is that type of ignorance that is very scary to me. I too, got "had" by this article and am ditching the "smart" phone when my contract is up!

OMG! Dr. Mercola, you truly got my attention and what is so scary about this article is that it is a very real possibility and I am sure on the minds of POISON INJECTORS! What I know now about how vaccines are the major factor included with a few other things like EMF, BAD food containing chemicals, and so many toxic products in our daily lives, especially GMO herbicides like Round Up that contains GLYPHOSATE that are destroying our children, older people that buy into this misinformation, and those parents that are bombarded by the medical terrorists that are practicing BAD SCIENCE and promoting it as good science, it simply makes me want to "Call Ralph on the great white telephone!" Excuse me, while I go puke!

I use Fire Fox and used to have the same problem - I have a 12 year old Windows XP pc - but since I added ram (was with 1 gb - now added another 1gb = now have 2gb) This problem has stopped - even with dish internet connection. Maybe run the program "CCleaner " before you try to get to this part? Good luck.

OMG! I was in a total freakout panic, and then realized this was April Fool's Day. Even so, it is no joke that the government and other so-called 'health' agencies are pushing the vaccine agenda to the extreme. We must be vigilant and not let anything like this happen.

I have NEVER before seen so many comments. I think that's good. This is a scenario we never want to happen. People in other countries march in the streets. Americans grumble but trust. This one--if vaccinations were to become mandatory--would be worth civil disobedience.

What should be further investigated is the allegation, as I have heard from "conspiracy theorists", that vaccines contain not only toxic substances, but substances that are purposely put in there by "them" that are designed to "zombify" the public, so as to make them even more malleable than they already are (thanks to their manipulations of our social institutions).

In a way it is already happening. Point in case: A man and his wife are occupational therapists. He also has a masters in ergonomics. They have always refused vaccines for health and religious grounds. They were recently let go because of it. The hospital that they worked for did not do it - the company did it. After years of service. How can this happen?

That was awesome, way to shake us up and get us thinking. Judging from the comments, I think you have cracked a few more eggs than you might have wanted! Unfortunately, too many thin skins are putting you and your health and wellness education campaign under the microscope. Even if I don't always agree with you, Doc, I love the fact that you are an intelligent voice for choice and freedom. Keep up the good work, but try not to be so overt in driving business to cardiologists next April 1, eh?

Twice now, FireFox has become unresponsive while the comments were being loaded. I had to use the Task Manager to close FF, as none of the other 5 tabs I had open would work, either. Everything looked "fogged out."

I read the article, feeling more and more horrified, while at the same time reassuring myself with the thought that, if this were true, we would surely have heard about it before. Then I began to think "What the...?" when reading M. Aucun Choix's comment about being happier if all stress of making decisions were removed. (The name translates as "No Choice," but I didn't notice that until after seeing that this is Mercola's annual spoof.)

The article gets crazier and crazier. I especially liked the heading "BS Alert Rolling Out in April." That was a big clue. Haven't finished reading it all yet, as I was eager to get to the comments, but have to say that it was horrifying and entertaining at the same time. Well done, Dr. Mercola!

Now to try once more and see if, when (hopefully) this gets posted, I can see other people's posts. If not, that in itself will make me suspicious.

I may have missed this; did not read all: Dr. Russell Blaylock, some years ago, had some suggestions for "first aid measures" if one was forced to have a flu shot. For some people this situation, as described in the article, is already in effect: vaccinate or pink slip. It would be helpful to have some preventive measures for "surviving" any forced vaccinations.

This is not funny because it's almost certainly something that my kids and grandkids will have to face, and maybe even I will have to get poisoned before I get to peacefully exit. The amount of money that such programs can generate will NOT be ignored by the pharmaceutical houses nor by our government. 200+ million adults getting half a dozen shots at over $100 per shot is how much? Don't joke, don't laugh, get ready because it's coming.

Dr. Mercola, I love you. You have given me amazing advice throughout the years that has improved and maximized my health. I would not be half the man I am today without your advice (or maybe I'd be twice the man I am today, weight-wise).

But this is pure conjecture. I tracked down a bunch of the references for this article, and I can't find anywhere, a single credible source that mentions the implementation of the Adult Immunization Plan. Your link here actually goes to a rough draft of the plan. Do you know where the final draft is? I can't find any information about it going into effect anytime soon or its use of electronics and social media to track anti-vaccination efforts.

The big red flag for me, though, is the quote from Aucun Choix, which I can find nowhere, except in this article and its twin on tapnewswire (also written by you). And "aucun choix" in French simply means "no choice." Are you purposefully trying to play with us? I'm kind of insulted by this.

I still stand firm on my personal beliefs about vaccines, but this is sensationalism at best. Please take a step back and reevaluate how your writing affects your readers. People are freaking out, but there's no solid evidence that they should be...yet.

And Happy April Fool's Day. Good one.

As I slowly read this and was thinking bout

The sign in my doctor's office about traveling to certain countries and the risk of Ebola, I was thinking this is very possible. Not for the health aspects but for all the monies Wall Street cronies will make off this. They could care less bout your health. Then I thought, April fool's. Whew!!!

One More Thought; Unfortunately Big Business drives our government. Too Much regard for the almighty dollar and less for the individual rights. We free-thinkers need to need to gang-up on the status quo so citizens like ourselves, Dr. Mercola and others views wont fall on gov's deaf ears!
Separate big business for from Our State!

I had a feeling you were creating a "scenario".....a truly terrifying scenario. I have copd, I'm 70, and a vaccine like that could put me in the hospital.....or kill me.

This would be the Biblical "mark of the beast" and I pray it NEVER comes to fruition.

Vote Republican.!

Posted On 04/01/2015

NO !! Vote Independent or something else. Republican is just now a code word for yellow RINO demokrap.

@"mirandola", your suggestion not to vote a party line is typical of single issues politics, as I had posted to you just the other day, using the NRA 2nd Amendment issues as an example. But that should not discourage one from registering in a third party, as you don't have to necessarily vote the party line. Even if that means, depending on one's POV, voting for the best there is or the lesser of all evils.

But also, in some states, voter registration in a particular third party can be one way of giving that third party permanent ballot status, something the big two party monopoly doesn't like. And of course, winning elections is another way for a third party to gain (permanent) ballot status.

Must be 1st April.....but, this would not surprise me, the world knows that Americans must not die of anything at all, or there must be a full scale public enquiry with blame attached. Have a happy Easter and thanks for your work.

I swallowed it all hook, line and sinker. It scared the life out of me because I think most people on this site are expecting something like this to occur in the next few years. This is definitely the agenda being pursued and unless we all act against this agenda it will become reality. Good article but sure scared the s/it out of me.

Tasteless April fools joke. What's the purpose of striking fear in people? We have enough people in the world perfecting that.

Posted On 04/01/2015

WillAllman

The purpose of striking fear in people is to elicit the desired response, which in this case is to make people realize that the described situation is an all-too-real possibility so they'll get off their butts and start doing something to stop it from happening.

I was relieved to read the name and comments of the French "expert" and realized this was for April Fool's Day. But you do make some good points.

glfireside

Well written spoof. However, with all the "BS" we have to wade through to find the truth - Paleo VS Vegan and other similar health debates it kind of exposes your expertise at writing articles which sound like truth but are not. Really don't think it did anything for your credibility except to expose that fact that you can be really convincing without really telling the truth. Might think about this next April Fools Day.

You really had me there for awhile. It sounded PRECISELY like what our erstwhile Keepers would say, in justification, and extension. Too 'close' for comfort, Doc.

mygardengrows

Geez, Dr. Mercola, this gave me quite a start. I suspected the satire with the French person's quote, but, then again, one can't be certain as such comments are to be found online today. But then I recalled it was a Frenchman who offered a glassful of the 'absolutely safe' glyphosate to Monsanto's lobbyist to drink. lol One has to admit, the French make their points in unique ways.

If this April Fool's Day 'joke' isn't sufficient to scare inactive objectors into action, I don't know what will.

Here's hoping any additional April 1st capers we experience will be of the more benign variety.

Omg that article scared the sh*t out of me.

From anti-vaccine or on the fence people or even vaccinators who are a little unsure, that article is good to sway them to not vaccinate but for those on the extreme other end, which in my experience that is at least 50% of the population including most doctors, that article could be used a breeding ground of ideas to get an action like that going. I don't feel we need those ideas packaged so nicely and easily for them.

I am a huge supporter of you though Dr Mercola, and I am so glad you have the courage to write your health articles and partner with other Experts around the globe. You have put into words what I have always thought since I was a child. And now it has been scientifically validated. Thank you for your intelligence and courage.

okay, I'll have to say this was a pretty good April fools joke. I don't really go for that. I was half way through the first paragraph when I started scrolling up and down to see where it says that it was a hoax. Halfway through, I decided to skip to the comments to see what people in America were going to do. Fortunately, there was a red box relieving me of my stress and ending my day with a slight chuckle. Got me.

Holy crap, you got me there for a minute...

I'm in Canada, but have a daughter living in Cali, and when I started reading this, I thought "well, this means I will never be allowed to go visit my child ever again" (I am a "choicer").

As I kept reading, I finally clued in that this was a joke but, honestly, the way things are going in the US, I would not be at all surprised if soon the day came that this became true.

The way the pharma, and many politicians bought and paid for by pharma, are pushing this kind of choice-less agenda - all the vaccinate-or-you-lose-your-job, the medical kidnappings, the DARK act, all this goes on further and further eroding the freedoms of Americans.

I would agree with the many posters on the placement of the disclaimer. I know, if it was right up top, it would spoil the surprise but this article scared me half to death...

The very scary thing about this article is that it was so easy to believe!

This morning I watched an excerpt of the Terry Schaivo case (she died 10 years ago today or yesterday) - and how first the state of Florida (via then Gov Jeb Bush) and then the federal government (and Pres. W. Bush) tried to take over her care and her husband's/guardian's choice to allow her to die. - All this when 70% of the citizens thought they were wrong and acting on political motivations.

The "Christian" cultists who aim to take away our own choices over our own bodies must be stopped at every possible juncture.

How do we know that she actually wanted to die? Her husband, who had divorced her, said that is what she told him. Her parents could see life in her and that she wanted to live. Who do you believe? Once he divorced her he has no more of a say in her life.

This is unfortunate to send a joke like this . . . we are in the trenches and are trying to establish trust in our communities and sending frickin' jokes is counterproductive and irresponsible. Any gains we have made getting people on this side of the fence, is now gone. Not acceptable. This damage has put us back. Foolish. The joke is on the very people who are TRYING to educate our people. What were you thinking?

To those that criticized my response and to those that were frightened by Dr. Mercola's article, I too was frightened by the many details, all which have been discussed at length by Conservative groups. Then I realized that I had not heard from these Conservative groups about what Dr. Mercola was detailing. So I scrolled to the end to see the source: I was flabbergasted – it was an April fool's joke – the whole article contained fiction as well as truth!! As some have said an earlier warning might have been appropriate.

You should realize that I have been reading Dr. Mercola for years and he has never written so much detail about "what might happen" (and at the same time mixed in reality) if we Americans let it happen.

I would suggest that this excellent article be re-released written in two parts: 1) The already deadly facts (reality) and 2) "what might happen". This would allow Dr. Mercola's readers to understand what they needed to be effectively discussing with our Congress.

Thus, to prevent what Dr. Mercola's "what might happen": you should be forcibly contacting your Congressperson or Senators. It is the fault of our Congress that what Dr. Mercola wrote about was even a possible thought.
