Warning

The ClearAir Personal Air Purifier is not a medical device and should not be used to alleviate any medical issues that you may have. Please consult your physician before using the ClearAir Personal Air Purifier if you are worried that the machine could cause adverse effects. If you have a medical condition, consult your physician before using this product. Not recommended to be used by children under 4 years of age or by those people with pacemakers.

Cautions

Battery is not rechargeable. Do not attempt to charge the battery.
Do not immerse unit in liquid or allow fluid to enter unit.
There are no user serviceable parts inside. Do not open or attempt to repair the inside of the unit.

Getting Started

Find the switch located on the side of your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier and slide it up into the “ON” position. The indicator light located under the grill will blink when the unit is on.

Use the included necklace to hang your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier around your neck, or use the clip to clasp it to your clothing. Your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier should be located roughly 6 to 8 inches beneath your nose with the metal grill facing upward.

With the unit turned turned on and in the proper position, you will feel clean air flow upward as you inhale.

When not in use, turn off your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier by sliding the switch down into the OFF position.

NOTE: This product does not contain a fan or mechanical blower.

NOTE: Windy conditions may interfere with the effectiveness of the unit.

Troubleshooting

If the indicator light does not come on, the battery may need to be replaced.

If there is no airflow present when you turn on your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier, the battery may need to be replaced.

If your ClearAir Personal Air Purifier makes a hissing sound, gently blow into the top of the grill to dislodge dust build up.

TIP: In order to increase clean air flow, bend your head forward to draw in more ionized air.

Maintenance

Locate the battery access door on the side of the unit. Slide the door all the way off to expose the used battery.

Place your finger against the positive side of the battery, push towards the negative side and swing the positive side out.

Replace with a new battery by inserting positive (+) end first, and push negative (-) end onto its metal contact.

Using the grooved rails, slide the battery access door back on until it clicks into place.
